Chinook: The Yearbook

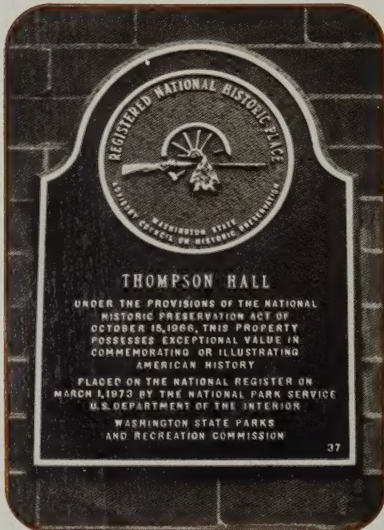

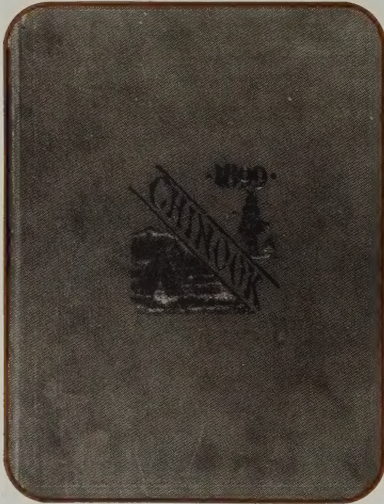

The first Chinook appeared on the campus in 1899 when the State College of Washington was yet called the Washington Agricultural College and School of Science. The name Chinook originated from a pidgin language known as Chinook or Chinook jargon which was, by necessity, coined during the early days of the Hudson Bay Company for the use of the western pioneers and fur traders. This language, formed from words from the French, some from the Indians, and some from the English, became an intermediary of expression between the American pioneers, the French, and the Indian tribes.

The class of 1900, first editors of the yearbook, decided to use the name Chinook for their publication, thus implying that it was to be a form of expression of college life and activities to people outside the institution as well as to students. In short, it was to be an intermediary of expression just as the Chinook language had been. The first Chinook was a medium sized book bound in a brilliant blue, the college color being blue instead of the present crimson and grey.

Financially embarrassed from the first attempt at a Junior yearbook the two following Junior classes did not publish a Chinook. It was not until 1902 that the after-effects of the first Chinook were paid off. In that year the second volume of the Chinook appeared. This time the book was smaller in size and had a red cover instead of a blue one. From this time on the Chinook became a permanent yearly Junior edition. Having thrived as a small book, its size was increased year by year until 1910 when it acquired its present dimensions.

So originated the Chinook, and thus was it named. Today its publishing has become a tradition on the college campus. No longer is it published by the Junior class alone, but by a group of dedicated students from all classes and from many different fields, whose goal it is to account for and present to the student body a brief but accurate and interesting record of our college life. We hope that you, the students, enjoy this year's edition of the Chinook as much as we have enjoyed creating it.

The Chinook Staff

Your 1976 Chinook is different! We think we've accomplished a unique blending of WSU's colorful past with our lively contemporary scene. It's our quiet way of adding a little Bicentennial spirit to the year.

Mention "yearbook" and immediately are conjured up images of photographs. The 1976 Chinook has plenty of our traditionally excellent pictorial layouts depicting WSU now and how it used to be. But this book offers a bonus: the staff has labored long hours to add more stories and interesting bits of information to compliment the photographic work.

In fact, we're thankful to the many campus groups and individuals who helped us compile these vignettes of information which we can share with you.

In framing a different picture of WSU, we've focused on individual topics for each two-page spread, creating interest with both words and pictures, instead of the usual pictures-on-a-page waiting for you to fill in the meaning.

We wanted to create a book that carried meaning to you; a book that allows you to cement your own memories into the pages. We hope we've succeeded.

This is your book. Take time to read it from cover to cover. See how much you've already forgotten; see how much 1975-76 really meant to you; see yourself and your year.

Washington! Washington! W.A.C.!

Whenever you're listening to a lecture in Bryan Hall, working out in Bohler or Smith Gym, or just walking across campus, you may not consider that countless other students have trod the same steps you have since 1890. Perhaps those past students became successful businessmen or famous political figures; perhaps they took lesser roles in society—but whatever careers they chose for themselves, they affected this university with the traditions they formed and the lives they led here. They left for future students a reputation to live up to—they left stories of hard times, accomplishments, gaiety. . . they left memories that if recorded would fill pages and pages with their history.

A large part of WSU's history involves tradition. Traditions make a college what it is. Possibly the most humorous and also the most abhorred was the practice of making freshmen wear green caps on their heads as a distinction of their ignorance. The caps were worn from fall to Thanksgiving and from Saint Patrick's Day to Campus Day, when they were finally burned in a huge bonfire and their wearers released from the imposing indignities caused thereby. It is doubtful that anyone kept their green cap as a remembrance of college days.

Another tradition was that of greeting everyone on the sidewalk from the Administration Building to the Library with a big "Hello", so logically the area was dubbed the Hello Walk. Contests of strength between the classes played a large part in the traditions that developed through the years. The annual Frosh-Soph tug of war across "Lake de Puddle" on Rogers Field was one way of proving class superiority, especially since the losers who were pulled across the line ended up "in the drink". Each year, cherished traditions were carried out—the painting of the Frosh class numerals on the smokestack, the "reserving" of the stone bench next to Bryan Hall for Seniors only, the midnight serenades, and, of course, "sneak day" when all the Seniors took an unannounced day off from classes while the underclassmen entertained themselves by wearing the departed seniors' clothes and mimicking well-known upperclassmen in comic speeches during chapel hour.

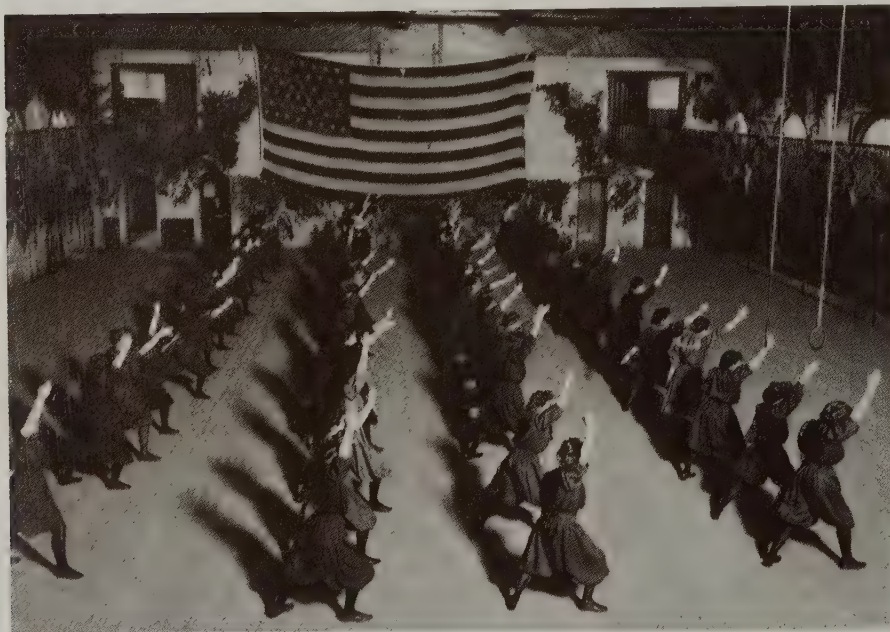

As with traditions, the personalities of many talented people also helped shape WSU into its present day form. Whether they were prominent for their brains, for their unique abilities, or simply because everyone liked them, they all added their own part to the history of the university. Among the many names which come to mind are Arthur Buckner "Buck" Bailey and Enoch A. Bryan.

Buck Bailey was a baseball coach who came to WSC for “a cuppa coffee and a look-see” at what he’d heard was a graveyard for coaches, and ended up staying for 34 years. During this time he perked up the place with his habit of tearing apart his hats during critical moments of a game, as well as with his great coaching abilities which led the Cougar baseball teams to 14 Northern Division penants, the title of “runners-up” 10 other years, and a second place in the nation in 1950. A story of humor involving Bailey occurred in 1939 when the Athletic Round Table of Spokane suggested to fans that they replace the hats Bailey had mangled through the years. Several days later hats began arriving at his home in Pullman by mail, train, express, and car. The hats filled up Bailey’s back yard—even spilled down into a vacant lot. The climax came when Bailey couldn’t find a single one of the estimated 26,000 hats that would fit him!

Enoch A. Bryan was a president who is described as the one who brought order out of chaos at WSC. When he arrived on campus in 1893, Bryan described the school as “wrecked” and immediately set about putting it back together. With his inspiration and foresight, Bryan developed the notion that WSC should do all it could to encourage and assist all qualified persons in getting an education. Under his direction, the college grew both physically and intellectually. He passionately believed that the college should be the “peoples’ university”, even though he was criticized much by “the people” who were against offering classical and scientific subjects along with the already established “practical courses”.

As the years progressed, WSC weathered world events, social changes, and numerous growing pains. Memorable dates range from the tragic influenza epidemic which struck the campus in 1918 and killed 41 members of the Student Army Training Corps despite the heroic efforts of doctors, students, faculty, and local citizens—to the student strike against the code of social behavior in 1936 which resulted in the formation of more realistic rules.

The WSU campus itself is one thing that past and present students alike always share. Several of the buildings on campus have been here from the very beginning; for example the old Administration Building (Thompson Hall) which was constructed in 1894. In its time, this building has served as a laboratory, a library, classrooms, a museum, and a women's gym, and today it occupies a spot on the National Register of Historic Places and is the first building in Whitman County to be included in the official list of state historical sites.

J. Fred Bohler Gymnasium has been the home of men's swimming, basketball and other sports since 1928. Named for coach Bohler in 1947, the gym has definitely taken its share of beatings by determined athletes and exhilarated fans. Twelve years after the completion of Bohler Gym, the women of the campus were presented with the Helen G. Smith Gymnasium, which was a welcome gift, for up to that time women's physical education had been taught in the Administration Building, Carpenter Hall, Duncan Dunn, and finally in the old Women's Gymnasium.

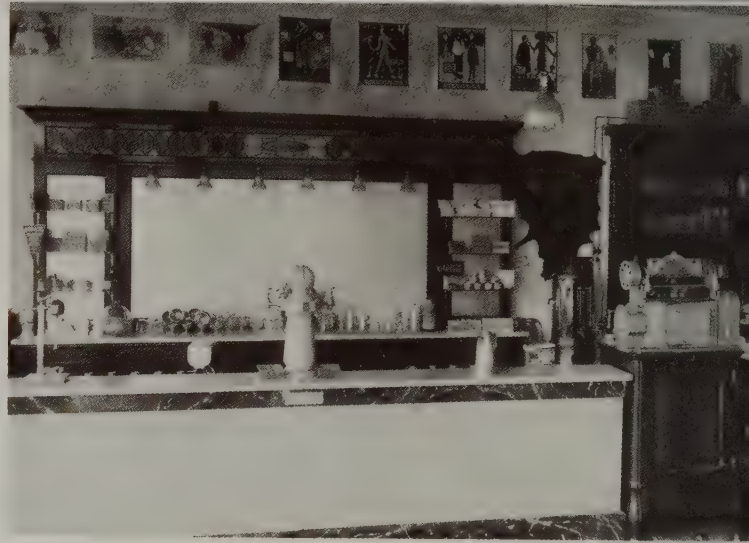

Speaking of women, the first women's residence hall and, in fact, the oldest residence still standing on campus is Stevens Hall, built in 1895 to house the 105 females of the campus at that time. With its Victorian atmosphere Stevens was a favorite dwelling place for coeds, even though it proclaimed some very strict rules. But rules didn't slow down young women who resented the 7 p.m. closing hours—thanks to the ground floor windows, which also provided an easy entrance to the women's residence for the energetic men of the 50's who just "loved those Panty Raids".

No discussion of the memorable buildings of the college campus would be complete, of course, without some mention of the infamous Ferry Hall. The original Ferry Hall, an ungainly five-story brick structure which stood on the same site as the more recent building of the same name, was constructed in 1892-93. Initially, it housed both men and women and, as such, became the first coed dorm in the United States. On Thanksgiving Eve of 1897, Ferry Hall was totally destroyed by fire. A number of students, awakened in the early morning hours by the breaking of windows and the ensuing flames, manned the fire hose in an attempt to combat the fire while others roused sleepers throughout the building. When faculty members reached the campus a hundred half-clad students surrounded the building or were attempting to salvage some of the property from within—a process soon stopped by the crashing in of the roof and upper floors. When it was over, many of the students were left only with what they were wearing. The homes of Pullman citizens and faculty members were thrown open to the homeless students for the remainder of the night, and on the following day the old Union Hotel, which had been closed for some time, was rented by the college and reopened as a college dormitory for those students who could not be cared for in private homes. It was nearly 2 years later before the “new” Ferry Hall was completed and opened for occupancy.

Bryan Hall in 1916 was an amazing place. Not only was it the center of campus activity and the scene for lectures, plays, and concerts — but it accommodated the entire student body and faculty of WSC. This famous building with its rose-illuminated clocktower became a favorite landmark for all residents . . . it was a sight all students came to take pride in.

But where did WSC actually begin? In the “Crib”, of course. Believe it or not, that was the name for the very first building which had been hurriedly constructed on top of the hill for $1500, in 1891. Its name was coined by the students because of the “infancy” of the college, and among the first courses of study offered at the Crib were agriculture, mechanic arts, domestic science, chemistry, mining engineering, civil, mechanical, and electrical engineering, assaying, and pharmacy. When the college opened its doors in January of 1892, 16 freshmen and 44 “preparatory” students were enrolled. In 1901 the Crib was torn down with the exception of one wall which was utilized as a wall of the new armory-gymnasium (later known as the TUB or Temporary Union Building). During the post war period, a bond issue and activity fee funds made it possible to build the $3 million Compton Union Building which flanks the site of the original Crib to the east and occupies the area that once was the TUB.

By this time it was apparent that the campus had come a long way from the “Crib” to the “Cub”. It had come from the cheer “Farmers, Hayseeds, Pumpkin, Squash—W.S.C., by Gosh!” . . . to Washington State University, and from the school colors of pink and blue . . . to crimson and grey. Growing since 1891, WSU has spanned two world wars and has been served by seven presidents . . . the campus has withstood years of the harshest Palouse weather, not to mention the thousands and thousands of hustling, bustling college students.

So walk across campus as countless others have walked before you—and think about the history of the old campus . . . the wisened, mellowed campus . . . that remains standing on the hill.

Assembly OK's funds for Gay Awareness

Heated debate and tension laced the atmosphere of last night's ASWSU Assembly meeting as a packed room gathered to watch the assembly approve funding for controversial groups such as Gay Awareness.

About 50 persons crowded into the assembly chambers to voice support and Bill Davidson, from Stephenson South, mumbled after Moore's comments.

This attitude was echoed by many other assembly persons. Dianna Madson, assemblyperson, Dist. 3, said the majority of the persons she polled did not want funds to be allocated to Gay Awareness.

Mark Ufkes, off-campus assembly person, said, "I'd think I am representing the students who have

After some discussion, the assembly approved a resolution to correct an error in the original budget for Back Awareness.

Coliseum director's proposals for concerts

Starting Nov. 1, three fall concerts in the Performing Arts Coliseum will come roaring into Pullman - virtually on each other's heels.

Many students have expressed dissatisfaction with a concert schedule that has three major shows on campus within three days of each other. Prohibitive ticket-buying overkill situation and a simple lack of anything outside that three-week period in student director James Crow's mind.

The reason for the dissatisfaction is the close proximity of the three major shows. "The reason for the dissatisfaction is the close proximity of the three major shows," says Seraceno, a member of the Performing Arts Committee, who accuses Crow of a lack of communications with students.

"The lack of communication is not much a 50-50 thing," says Seraceno. "The purpose of the committee is to provide entertainment for the students when they afford it."

Crow says several acts were available for Dad's Weekend, but Valli and the Four Seasons were the choice. "I think it will be a good show," says Crow.

Originally, the Dad's Weekend show was to include comedian Freddie Prinze. However, Prinze's recent marriage caused cancellation of his engagements through December.

Seraceno also says her committee and Crow "had a verbal agreement that he would de-emphasize Loggins and Messina advertising until well after the mass ticket sale for Roberta Flack."

Senate to re-hash GUR standing of Ad course

Coach Sweeney resigns after eight years

by Dan Keenan

Jim Sweeney, head football coach at WSU for eight years, resigned Sunday. His resignation follows a disappointing season for the 1975 Cougars, whose record went 3-8.

"A lot of people are being served by this decision," Sweeney said. "My decision to resign was a very difficult one but I think it's best for everyone involved."

Athletic Director Ray Nagel said "The decision to resign was strictly Jim's. We discussed some different possibilities and resigning was one of them. I'm sure he did some soul-searching after that and this Sunday he decided definitely he was resigning and that it was best for the university."

He pointed to the California game here Sept. 27 as the pivotal loss this season. "The Cal game was a difficult loss to absorb," he admitted. "I put tremendous input into that game. I began talking to the players about it last November. I felt that Cal would be the best team in the league, or at least second best. Maybe I made a mistake in setting the goals that high for that game."

Terrell sees need for tuition, fees hike

by Bob Sheffels
Evergreen staff

Long range reforms are necessary for funding higher education in this state, but in the meantime a tuition hike and fee increases are "desperately" needed, according to Glenn Terrell, WSU president.

Because long range reform takes time, Terrell said he felt a temporary tuition hike and fee increases are needed to meet the immediate financial crisis.

Terrell's crisis includes an expected $3 million deficit at the end of the current biennium (1977) if additional funds are not provided to meet the cost of inflation.

Inflation includes increased costs in anything from washing windows to buying chemicals for science courses he explained. In particular, utility costs the biggest bite.

A supplementary budget bill currently in the house would provide only $400,000 to meet inflation and the bill must pass through the more conservative senate before the money is forthcoming.

However, even if the bill should pass, it would still not be a satisfactory solution, the university's financial problem meeting needs for higher faculty salaries.

rule opposed

Arguments seemed to center around whether the rule was conducive to a freshman's necessary educational experience rather than a possible loss in revenue with fewer students in dorms.

Carlisle pointed to a 90 percent occupancy in residence living at the University of Idaho after withdrawing the live-in rule last year.

The senate rejected a suggestion by President Glenn Terrell that the body go on record for suspension of the rule rather than opposition. Terrell would have recommended the rule rather than opposition. Terrell indicated the senate's action.

Snow slows Pullman trek

by Mark Skok

What is usually a five-hour drive from Seattle to Pullman became a 15-hour marathon for many of the students who arrived on Sunday.

snow. Ice froze onto windshields, antennas and mirrors.

Ellensburg service stations and eating places operated at full throttle as students pulled in for gas or for dinners they had expected to eat in Pullman. Weather was about the only topic of discussion as people waited an hour for a hamburger.

The freeway from Ellensburg to Vantage was alternately icy and clear; cars without chains or studded tires risked sliding and those who left their chains on risked breaking them as the links scraped the hard pavement, throwing sparks at the cars who followed.

Most drivers had removed their chains before reaching Vantage as Eastern Washington's late-evening clear skies promised clear roads.

Black ice was the rule from Washtucna to LaCrosse. The practical speed limit dropped from 45 m.p.h. to 25 m.p.h. here.

Tired drivers combined with the near bumper-to-bumper traffic resulted in countless fender-bending accidents and cars sliding into ditches.

the University Senate voted yesterday in opposition to retaining the freshman live-in rule. ASWSU President Linda Carlisle argued that no such rule should apply to 18-year-olds who are legally adults and might find it economically beneficial to live off campus. "I, in my campaign to be seated here, required first a petition of 100 signatures and not one of them was in favor of the freshman rule. In addition, we have students in the Stephenson studies and it would be really nice to get them out of there," said Mike Thomsen, senator from district 7. Senators from Greek row expressed the strongest support to the rule. Both the Inter-Fraternity Council and the Phi Kappa Psi chapter record against abolition of the rule.

Some 90 students arrived on campus this September with no room reservations to find the Coliseum was their new home. WSU had its highest enrollment ever, with 16 thousand students, and housing space for many less. To alleviate the overcrowding, the school opened the Cougar Hilton in the Coliseum with a regimented closeness the tenants couldn't wait to leave. Within a week the students were moved into slightly better accommodations. They found themselves in study rooms or as the third person in a two man room. Next year it will be curious to see if the Hilton is reopened - maybe a chain will be started across campus. Imagine a concert or basketball game being called off because of study hours.

Fall is tranquility and fans at Husky Stadium.

Ah...to be a Freshman...

You were nervous, scared, self-conscious (and mad at yourself for feeling that way) but nevertheless you'd arrived in Pullman for the first time. There was no time to quickly brush your teeth, or change clothes—you were here.

The family car pulled up in front of your assigned living group and you proceeded to check in. At the desk they ask, "Do you want the $4 insurance plan?" (Your first independent decision!) "Um... just a minute, I'll go ask my parents."

Orientation Week. Parties, dances, bathing suits, Boyer Park, and more parties! "Goodbye mom and dad, nice knowing you!" "Wow, if this is college, I love it."

Meanwhile, on various parts of the campus many freshmen found themselves camping out in study lounges with six others or housed in the "Cougar Hilton." Students who did acquire normal living accommodations soon discovered that the rooms were small, roommates not always compatible, and the food... well, a little different than home.

Then along came registration. At least seven people reassured you by saying how simple it was. "Let's see, pick up my packet in Smith Gym at 10:45, go to Bohler, register, and I'm finished. No problem! Er... By the way—what's a packet?"

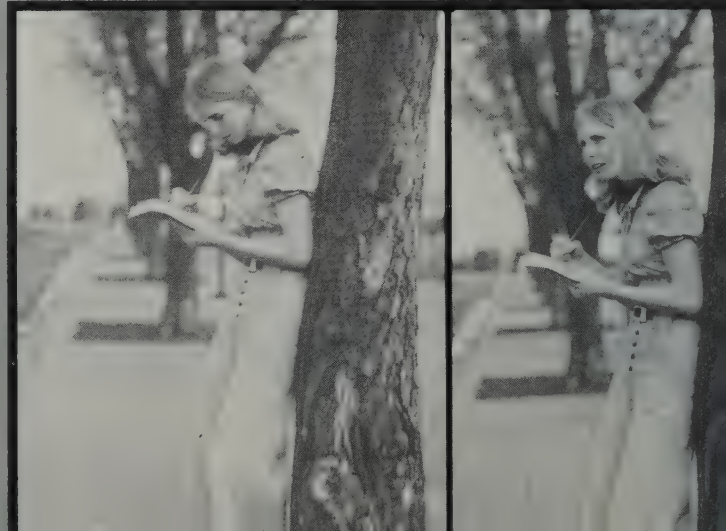

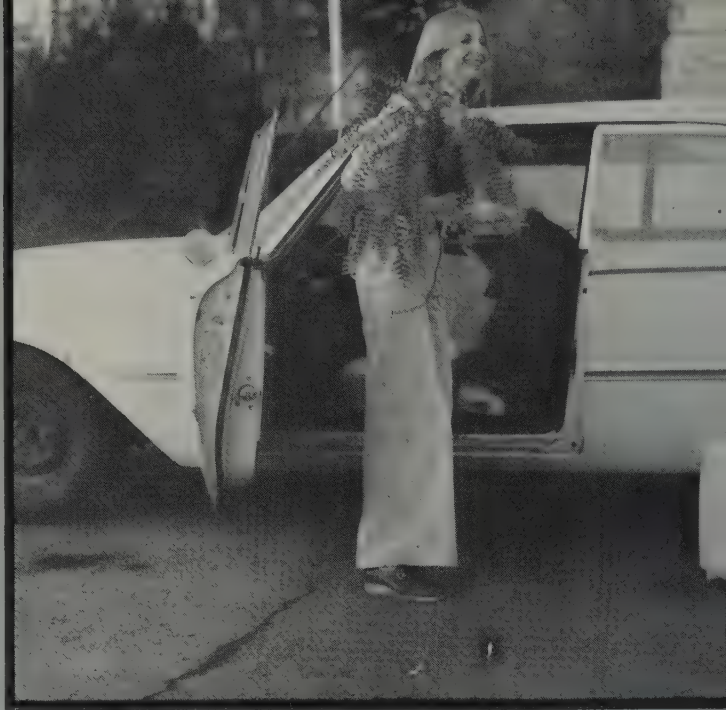

Two days later you got your schedule. All SECTIONS CLOSED... ALL SECTIONS CLOSED... You wound up with a grand total of six credits! So you waited in line, talked to your advisor, signed waiting lists, and never ceased to wonder... "Why me?" Finally after some pleading, plotting and griping you secured a couple more classes and figured that your problems were over. Not so!

The next few days found you in strange places... inside lavatory stalls or standing behind a tree casually glancing at a sheet of paper (which just happened to be a campus map), all the while praying you wouldn't have to use your last resort— asking someone how to find a place. Often you were late for class, went to the wrong class, or couldn't find the class at all.

And you had a few other problems. Perhaps you bought the wrong books and had to return them to the Bookie; or the right books were sold out and you had to wait for a new order... two days, one week, two weeks...

But you were young and these trivial setbacks didn't phase you for long. You were eager to learn and you learned fast.

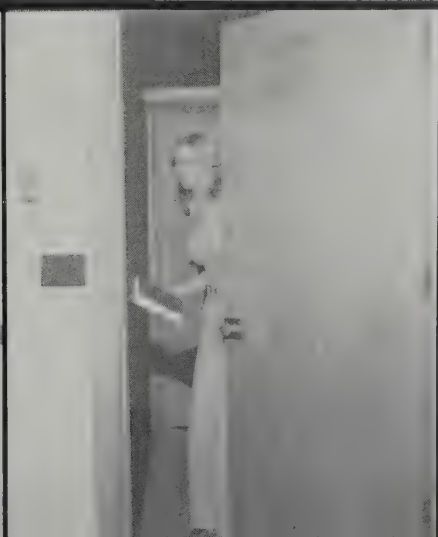

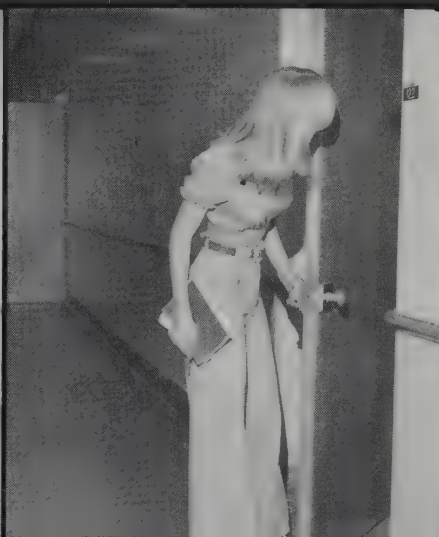

What did you learn? Well, that weekends are the highlight of the week; mail the highlight of the day; that the first test is always the most traumatic; that most people are in the same boat with you (a little homesick, a little unsure of the future); and that everyone suffers from "freshman blues" to some extent.

Soon you developed a routine. Study, eat, sleep, study, eat, sleep. Actually, you found that there was more free time than you had imagined. So you spent it at football games, dances, movies "being rowdy", dating, joining intramurals, partying, volunteering services to clubs and organizations, writing letters, and just plain relaxing.

... Now that you're experienced, you look back on your first few months of college and smile. You smile because everything you feared would happen did happen—or because what you feared would happen did not happen. At any rate you turn this page with a smile, and a sigh of relief because the trauma of being a freshman is over.

"...Now that you're experienced...the trauma of being a freshman is over."

The Joy of Studying

(or...how to take the damn out of cram)

Now that you've perfected your culinary skills by careful reading of "The Joy of Cooking" and whatever other skills you might have developed from perusal of "The Joy of Sex," it's time to become acquainted with WSU's blockbuster best seller. . . "The Joy of Studying."

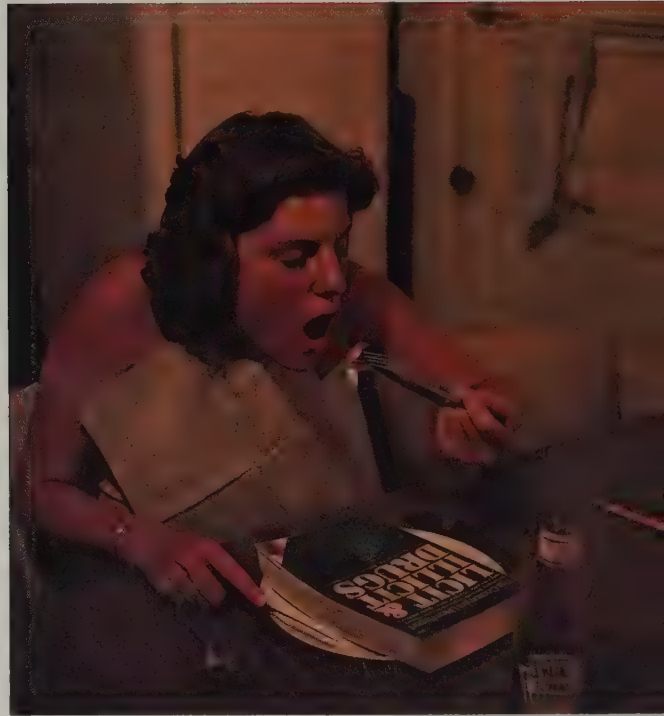

Space limitations dictate a shortening of the book's content into a few select excerpts. For those wishing the full benefit of the book's 1001 study suggestions, the handsomely bound volume is on sale at the Bookie for $9.99; or in exchange for a 1975 Cougar season football ticket.

Here are just a few of the study tips offered by "Joy" (please refer, clockwise, to the accompanying photos).

EATING IT UP: Devouring textbooks, the eater has no qualms about digging into the material, although the more difficult subjects sometimes necessitate spoon-feeding the information. If the material is hard to digest, try a little sage.

SPEED FREAK: Here's a man that took advantage of Evelyn Wood, figuratively, of course, and now can read pages faster than George Raveling can recruit seven footers. There's no secret to speed reading; and, in fact, anyone of average intelligence can master the art. The trick is to skip from line to line
e. A nd eve ry thing w
il l ma ke sen se.

THE CRAM: Take the "C" out of "CRAM" and you've got where we'd rather be; soaking up those suds at Pullman's most-frequented watering hole. The secret to successful cramming, by the way, is not how or where you do it, it's when you do it. The professional crammer refuses to turn the first page of unread books until 3 a.m. of the test day (5 a.m. if the exam is in the afternoon). Following the cramming session the expert crammer should have available a 10-speed for use precisely seven minutes after the hour. For Wil-Ru resident crammers it's recommended the crammer begin the rush to class at six minutes after the hour . . . and in high gear.

Group Therapy

OSMOTIZING: (Just let that knowledge seep in). Here's a cleverly devised form of studying for those who have a penchant for learning while in a prone position. Practitioners of this study method have found it difficult to break habits developed in the second book of the "Joy" series (refer to first paragraph) and have decided to combine the best of both worlds. One note of caution: Don't try the "Osmotizing" method with your CHINOOK. The color rubs off and you might end up with a magenta-covered forehead.

The Cram

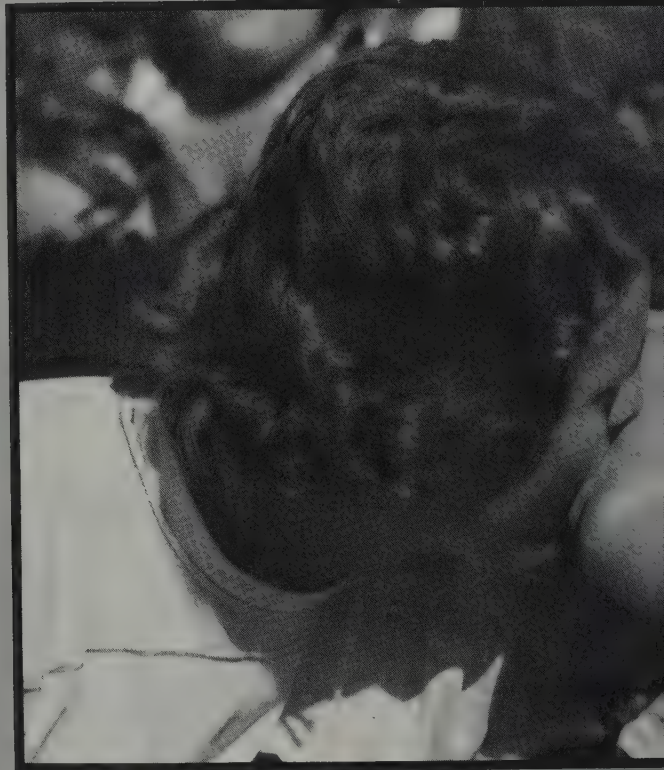

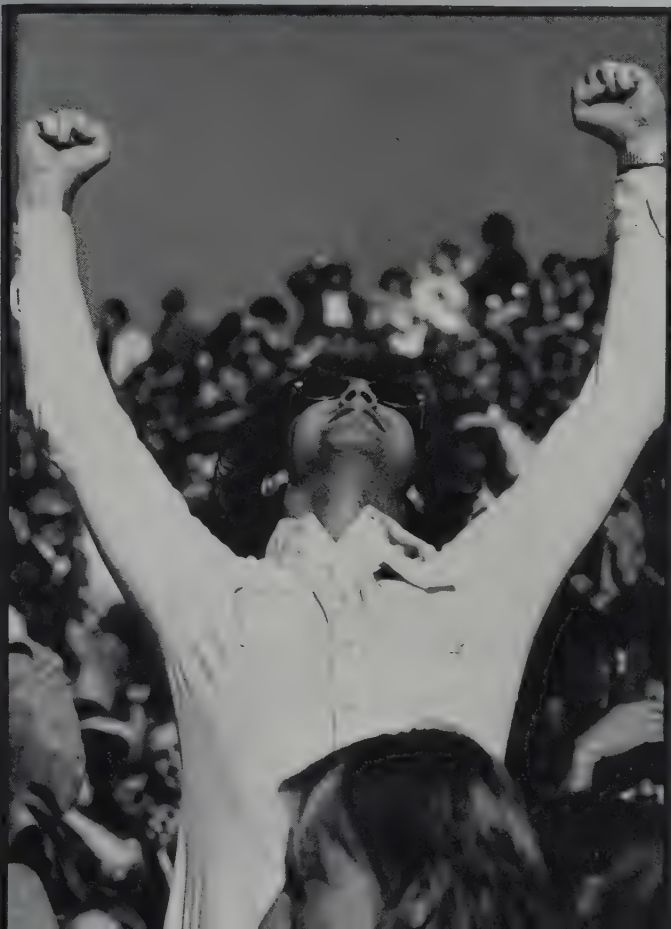

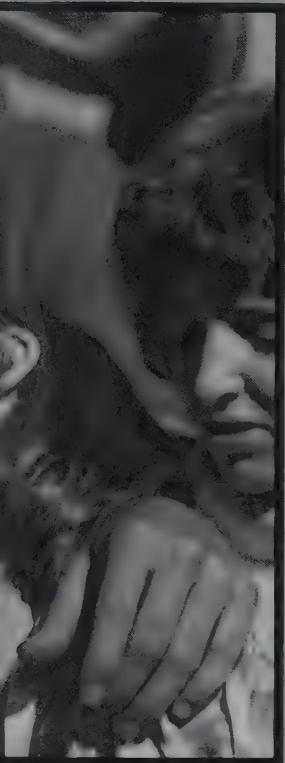

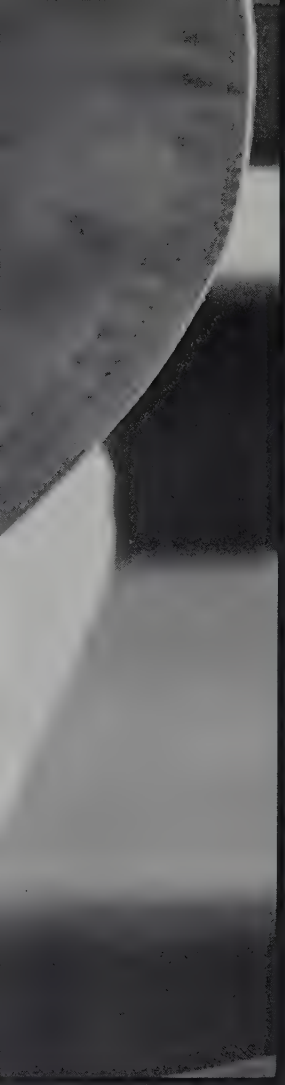

Osmotizing

GROUP THERAPY: "Knowledge shared is knowledge gained" someone once said, and the "Group Therapy" study plan is proof of the wisdom of those words. Occasionally there are flaws to the system. If a) the knowledge gained is the wrong knowledge; b) the majority of the group's members are "crammers", "speed freaks", "Osmotizers", or "eaters"; or c) someone in the group is convincing enough to suggest a "short refreshment break; then you've got a party, which is what we should have suggested before we started to create this silly page.

Going for that extra point and scoring.

WSU Research: Working On Today's Problems

The goal of the 360 research projects coordinated by the Agriculture Research Center is to help Washington farmers increase production and efficiency. Ranging from growing wheat in soilless mist chambers to controlling insect pests, these projects are helping farmers feed the world's growing population by providing the latest information about crops and animals.

Dr. Francis Young, shown here with assistant Ron Orta, is the founder of WSU's primate research center and has conducted myopia research (near-sightedness) both on monkeys and on an Eskimo population in Alaska.

Dr. Young's work shows that myopia is caused by nearpoint work such as reading in dim light, and can be prevented. It is also known that myopia is not hereditary.

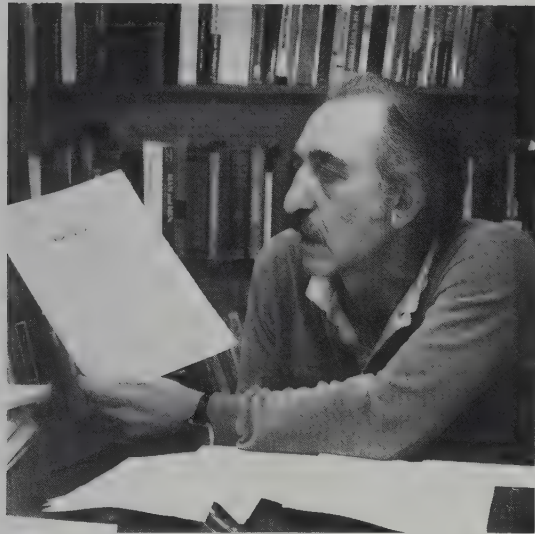

The Rokeach Value Survey, developed by WSU's Dr. Milton Rokeach, has been given to people all over the country. The survey determines what things are important to different people during different times. As a result, he has found that human values change over periods of time.

According to Dr. Lois DeFleur, arrest statistics are not totally reliable as means for determining actual numbers of drug users. Dr. DeFleur has done a study called "Effects of Social Organizations on Deviance Rates," which deals with criminals and drug abuse. This project yields an accurate number of drug abusers and not simply a rise or fall in police activity.

The Computer

Ahhh! The miraculous Age of the Computer is upon us; bringing with it digital expressions of time (wristwatches), pocket calculators even a Lilliputian could handle with ease and, of course, efficient WSU computerized registration.

Efficient, you say? Ask some of the students stacked in the registration lines. "Man, I don't mind missing lunch, but I sure hate to be last in line for Pizza Haven stuff night."

You finally get the classes you need only to find after the COMPUTER has regurgitated the facts fed it earlier, that half your sections are overbooked.

And you wonder whose card the COMPUTER choked on when the test scores are three weeks late; or why you're billed out of state tuition when you've got a life's membership card to the Wenatchee YWCA.

It's tradition and fun to bitch about registration foul ups. But old timers remember when lines wound around BLOCKS and when manpower needed to shuffle, sort and file class cards was horrendous.

Today 95 percent of all course requests are honored. And although it takes two to three days for the computer cards to be sorted and edited by hand, the COMPUTER will do the sectioning in 25 minutes, the billing in an hour, and the scheduling in eight hours.

So during next registration remember, student 00791-433, it could be worse: That 8-11 a.m. Tuesday lab you got could have been the 2 to 5 p.m. Wednesday section. . . and then you'd be at the end of the Pizza Haven line all semester.

Above: In September, the new Science and Engineering Library was already well ahead of schedule, and by May two sides of the six-story structure were displaying their clean new brick facing. Right: The Veterinary Sciences building, most recent of the new construction projects on campus, will be the most expensive building ever constructed by WSU.

The Shortest Distance Between Two Points.....is Probably Under Construction.

Left: Chinook Village, newest of the "Turnkey" student housing projects, is due to be completed before the start of the Fall '76 semester. Below: The new biological sciences building, which will be known as Heald Hall - Phase II, was nothing more than a large hole in the ground in September, but by May it had reached roof level.

Jim Sweeney...

After a football coaching career at WSU spanning eight years, Coach Jim Sweeney is gone. Some were glad to see him go, remembering his 26-59-1 record, culminating in a Pac-8 basement ranking in 1975.

But many will miss Coach Sweeney, with his warm, outgoing personality and lighthearted sense of humor. He wasn't just a coach, he was a friend who took the time to know team members and students personally.

Players recall how Coach Sweeney made them feel like an individual, not just another player. "He was a person you could talk to, not just about football, but anything that was bothering you."

Cougar spirit and pride were very much alive in Jim Sweeney. Past alumni remember him out on the gym floor, leading cheers at football and basketball pep rallies.

Jim Sweeney was the eternal optimist, always looking forward to the next game, never looking back on past losses. He possessed, not just preached, the winning positive attitude which he tried to instill in his team.

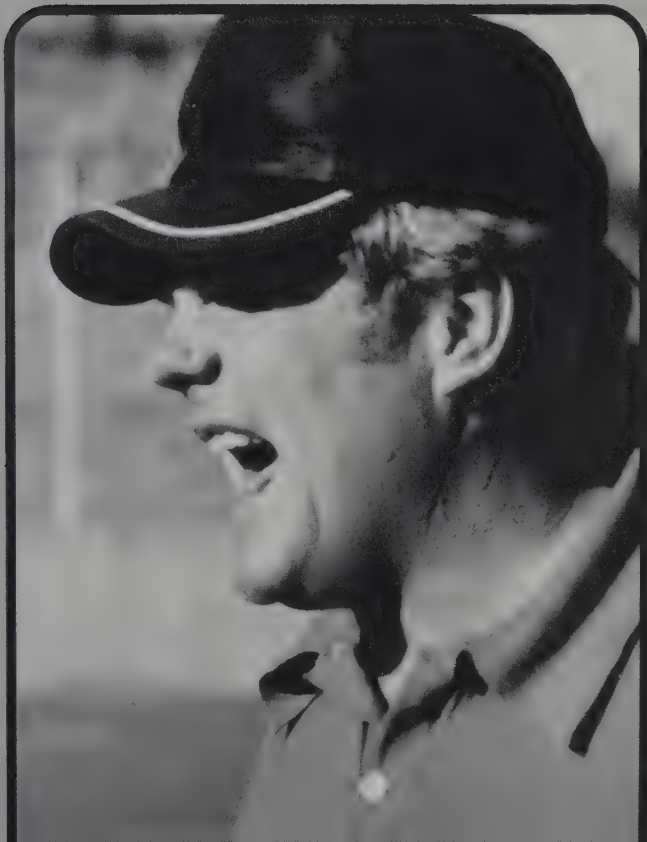

Coach Jim Sweeney's career at WSU is now a past era, and game scores are the only permanent record of the time he spent in Pullman. But even though he is gone, people will remember "the smiling Irishman" for years to come.

44 Wazzu Expressions

...Irish Optimist

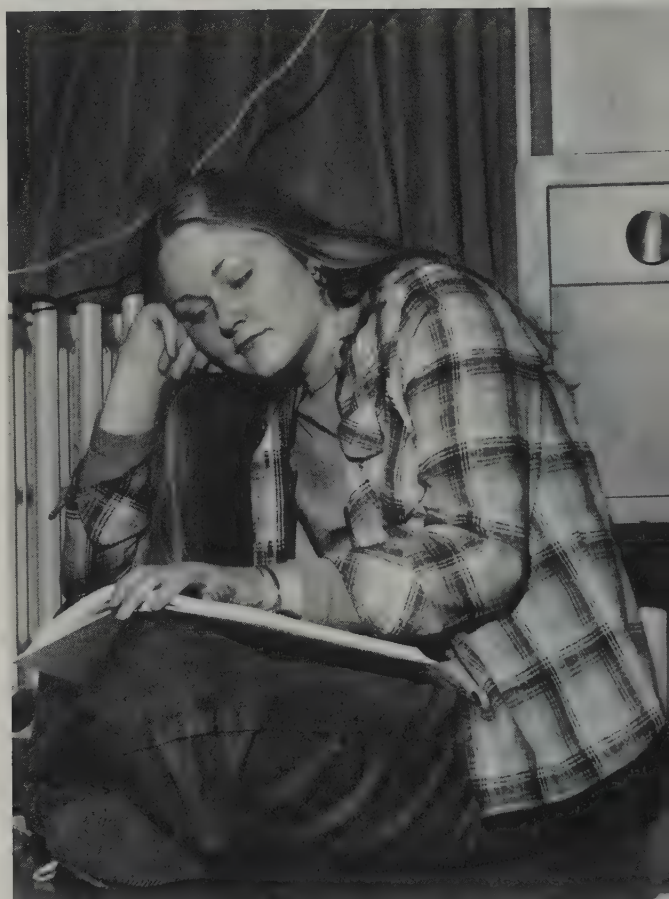

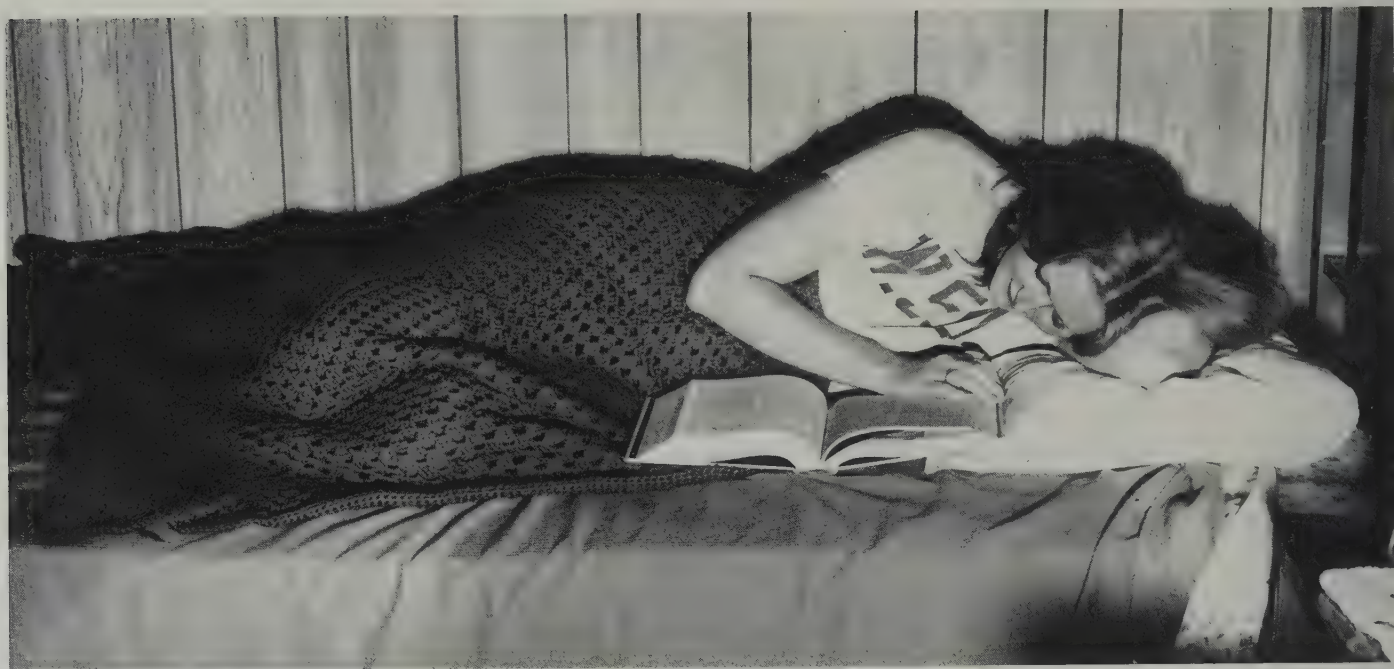

With the arrival of Coach Jackie Sherrill at WSU a new fire of future football hope was kindled. Change was evident from the moment the press announced the name of the new coach.

Football team members found out from the start that Sherrill was the boss. He is a self proclaimed disciplinarian. "I don't expect the players to respect me, Jackie Sherrill, but they do have to respect the coach."

Recruiting immediately took precedence in Coach Sherrill's list of football priorities, as he looked as far east as Ohio for promising players. Plans for a passing offense began to take shape to replace the old veer.

The success of Cougar football under Coach Sherrill remains to be seen, but there is little doubt that WSU is highly receptive to the Sherrill football era.

Moscow: WSU's Nightclub

"Hey, how 'bout another? I've been looking forward to this all week, I'm having a great time tonight!" Sure wish someone would ask me to dance. "No, no thank you." Yeech, what a creep! Where are all the MEN? Playing foosball. . . it figures. I never should have cut my hair, I look like a squirrel. Oh no, a slow song. All the clods are going to make their pitch. I shoulda stayed home. Hey, he's kinda cute, oh yeah, he's in my English class. "Sure, love to." Hmm, I'm enjoying this! "Uh, could you not squeeze so tight, I can hardly breathe." Song's over, here it comes, the move. What?! The snob didn't even offer to buy me a drink. Who does he think he is?

Oh boy, a "hustle" song! Come on someone ask me to dance. "Yeah, sure." This guy dances like. . . . forget it, he can't dance. I shoulda stayed home. How original, the-old-arm-around-the-waist trick. Maybe I ought to break it for him. "Thanks but I gotta go find my friend. Yeah, see ya later. Excuse me, pardon me, come on, go to the bathroom with me." There's something socially significant about waiting in a line to go to the bathroom. I shoulda stayed home.

I'm bored, I should take up foosball or pool. Wonder if I should cut down on the beer, I need to lose weight. "Yeah, I'll have another." What a drag, I haven't danced hardly at all. "Time to go?" Great, I'm about half asleep. There's that guy from my English class. Oh lucky me, he talked to me. "Let's go, you're not too drunk to drive, are you? Oh yeah, I had a great time." I shoulda stayed home.

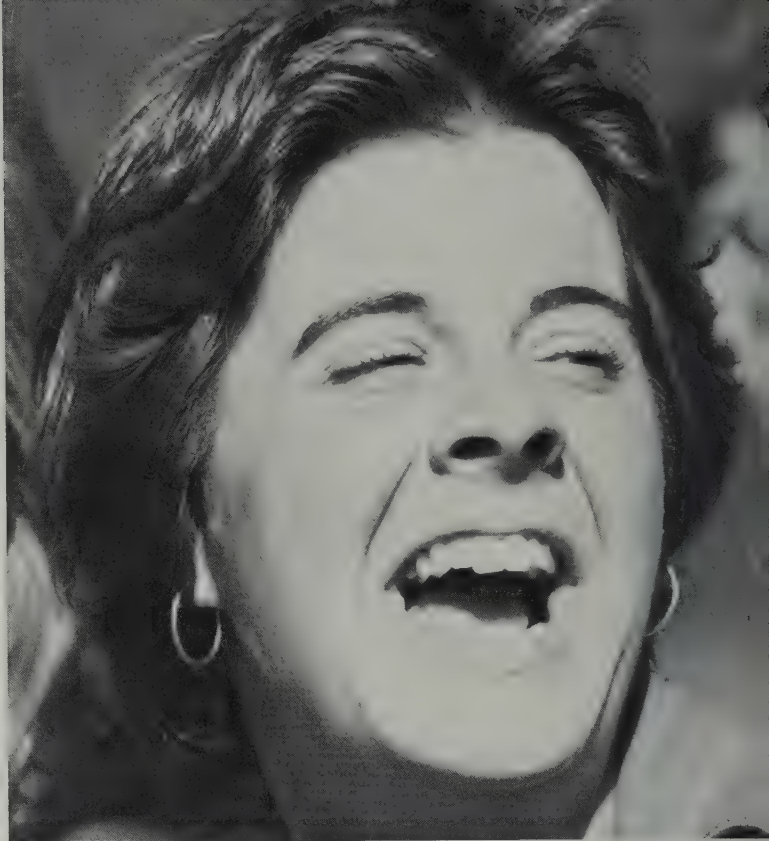

"My turn to buy?" Hmmm, nice unit, think I'll just wander over there and. . . . crap, she's got a date. Big guy, too. Oh well, I'll play foosball. Here's a couple of innocent looking turkeys that I can challenge. 8-3, that was lots of fun, now what? Pretty good band, I think I'll learn these people how to get down if I can find a partner. Hey baby, care to change your luck? "Excuse me, would you care to dance?" Great, now to find a place on the dance floor. Hey buddy, move over, you want to get your elbow outta my liver, you rockpile.

"Thanks for the dance, can I buy you a beer? Oh, well excuse me then, sorry to waste your time!" Women, they always think you're on the make for them. Course, I was thinking about it but that's beside the point. I need a beer.

"Excuse me, pardon me, 'scuse me, par. . . hi, how the hell are you? Oh finestkind with me. How about a dance later with the king? Great, catch you later." Whew, what a loser. You wanna get outta my chair, you jerk. "Hey, what happened to the pitcher I just bought? I didn't get a drop! Oh hell, I'll just buy another. . . . lessee, how much money do I have? 50¢. . . 50¢?! I came over with $10 and all I got is 50¢. Think I'll go home. Jeez, it's cold. Come on, you crummy, solid rust Volkswagen, start, START! I want to cry.

Commencement 1976 was the most joyous graduation that President Terrell ever attended, he said and the same was probably true for everyone else. Applause, cheers, whistles, champagne, wine and even a keg before the ceremony denoted the joy and excitement of the graduates as the Class of 1976 stepped into the real world.

Right: Warren Farrell, a teacher at Columbia University and Brooklyn College, is the author of the book, "The Liberated Man-Beyond Masculinity: Freeing Men and their Relationships with Women." The book deals with Farrell's philosophy on male-female relationships. He offered suggestions for creating a more liberated society. Maintaining that men have been used as "success objects" Farrell says this has created pressures which have led to "masculine" or "dominant" males. A showman till the end, Farrell finished his talk by organizing a beauty contest with men the primary contestants and the judges picked from the audience.

Roger Greenspun became a movie critic haphazardly. Adverse to spending much time writing his Ph. D. thesis, Greenspun took to frequenting the movies, in the process becoming so adept at reviewing films that he became a movie critic. What's Greenspun's film philosophy in a nutshell? "We go to the movies to see stories, not pictures," he says, adding that "one needs an agile mind to go with an open eye to fully appreciate a good movie.

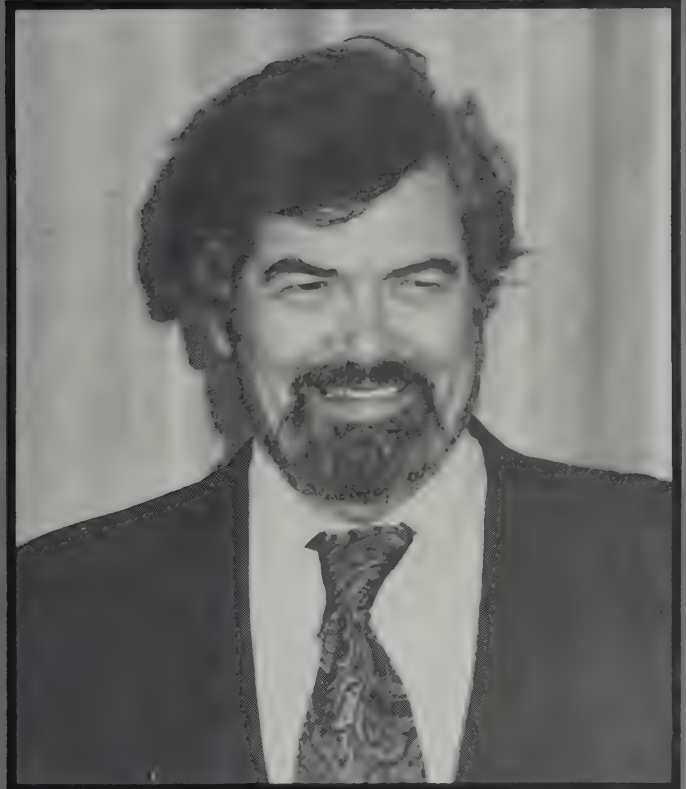

Not needing shoulder pads to look mammoth, former Los Angeles Ram Rosie Grier entertained dads during their weekend. Mr. Grier (anyone over 300 pounds deserves the "Mr.") related some interesting anecdotes from his football playing days and explained the successful program he initiated in Watts.

Below: It was homecoming for Dr. Laurence Peter, author of the best seller "The Peter Principle" and two lesser sellers, "The Peter Plan" and "The Peter Prescription." A 1963 graduate (PhD) from the WSU School of Education, Peter lectured on his pet theory, explaining why the machinery of society doesn't always run smoothly: because we insist on promoting persons to their level of incompetence, where they manage to remain as a rusty cog in that machinery.

When political cartoonist Patrick Oliphant comes on stage he certainly doesn't take the conventional approach. The Pulitzer Prize winner disdains the ordinary read-from-a-set-of-notes approach, entertaining, instead, with the aid of an overhead projector and a clever presentation utilizing sketches drawn "live" before the audience. Oliphant's skillful caricaturing produced drawings of such luminaries as Kissinger, Castro, Wallace, Rockefeller and the Watergate duo, Woodward and Bernstein. The unobtrusive Puck, Oliphant's penguin trademark, also is in the cartoons for a purpose. The character offers Oliphant an opportunity to inject a second comment. "He's my companion," says the author, "but sometimes he's a pain in the (censored) since some days I can't think of one idea, let alone two."

The scene: A military helicopter with four crewmen aboard is flying over the Northern states when an object intercepts it at an "amazing speed." The pilot of the helicopter goes into an emergency dive to avoid the oncoming craft. Suddenly a mysterious "green light" is focused on the instrument panel of the helicopter and without the crewmen noticing any gravitational pull, the military craft is drawn to the underside of the UFO at 3,800 feet, then dropped back into its freefall as the UFO speeds away. Strange? Not to John Wallace Spence, proclaimed expert on UFO's and various other unexplained phenomena. Spence is sure that the human race is being observed by alien beings who are allowing us to develop our civilization and recording our progress. Whether his audience believed Mr. Spence is debatable. But undoubtedly the lecture was a reminder that the possibilities of "someone being out there" are greater than we might imagine.

Music For Everyone?

Seldom has WSU had artists of such excellence and ability as Tim Weisberg and Leo Kotke as the Mini-Concerts started the year off on a resounding note.

On October 5, Tim Weisberg and friends sang, shouted, whispered, roared, caressed, pounded, lifted, and then gently brought back to earth, an enthusiastic crowd who could not get enough.

Weisberg's talent on the flute and his command of musical expression exhibited strong evidence that he is one of America's best flutists. A very responsive audience demanded two encores before Weisberg called it a night on a memorable performance.

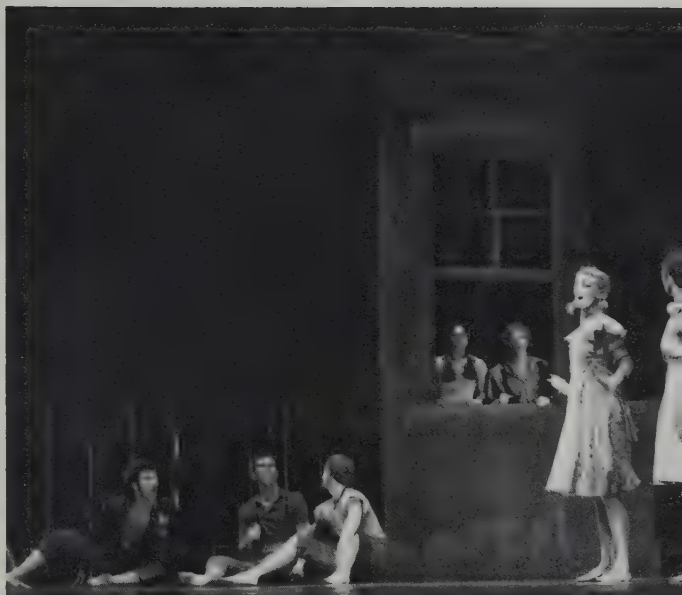

Eleven days later, Leo Kotke brought his own unique style of acoustical guitar playing and showed that an acoustic guitar player does not have to be mellow or folksy.

Alone on stage with only two guitars, Kotke entertained his audience with his complicated and rapid guitar playing. His songs extended into long jams that showed off his improvisational style.

Playing much of his old material, particularly his "Beantime" album, Kotke demonstrated his talent and proficiency and the result was a pleased and satisfied crowd.

A truly electric performance by Neil Diamond to a crowd of 10,000 appreciative fans was the highlight of the year. This year's concerts ranged from extremely good to extremely dull. Lesser knowns Tim Weisberg and Leo Kotke elicited overwhelming response from the 1,500 who attended their concerts, while known and better-forgotten Franki Valli and his Four Seasons showed us how far music has come and how far it has yet to go.

Homecoming Weekend brought Roberta Flack and the Crusaders in a slightly jazz-orientated show. Loggins and Messina played to an energetic crowd who got more than their money's worth with Savoy Brown, who are ending their undistinguished career this year. Olivia Newton-John thrilled the crowd with her looks; and, oh yes, her voice.

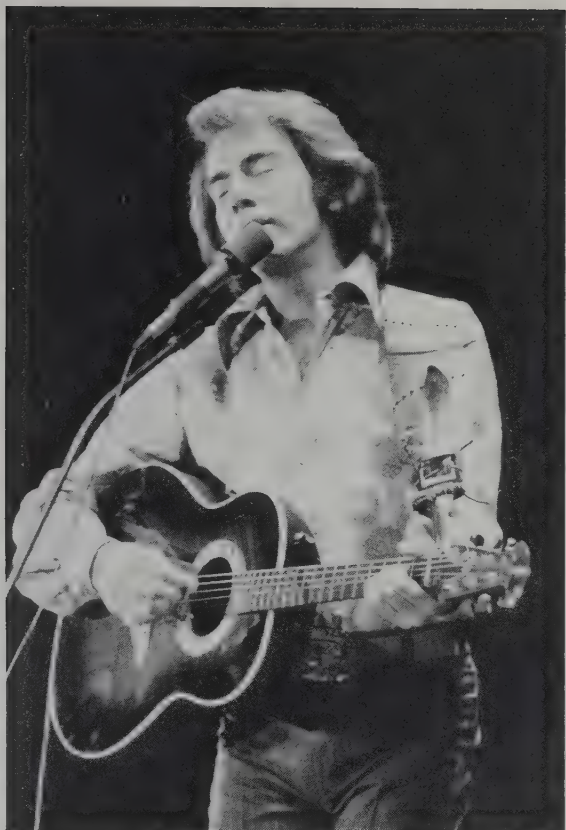

Mom's Weekend featured Ray Stevens and Freddie Prinze in an entertaining, if not slow, performance. War played some mighty rock to a mighty empty Coliseum, still, when the sound system worked, the music did too. Finally, the Sultan of the Swizzle, Neil Sedaka, played the last concert of the year.

"Turk" Edwards was "the greatest tackle who ever lived," said Mel Hein, an old WSU teammate of Edwards'.

More than forty years after his Washington State career, Turk received the honors due him when he was inducted into the National Football Foundation's College Hall of Fame.

Glen "Turk" Edwards came to WSU from Clarkston, Wa. and played under Cougar Coach Babe Hollingbery, who gave him his nickname. Weighing between 230 and 240, Turk was considered huge for that era of college football. Yet in spite of his size, he was "lightning quick" said Hein.

In 1930 Edwards played with the Cougars at the Rose Bowl and was chosen All-American tackle at WSU.

After finishing college Edwards signed a professional contract with the old Boston Braves, a team that later moved to Washington and became the Redskins. Turk played on five championship Redskin teams before becoming a coach and then vice-president of the ball club.

After a long and impressive career, Turk Edwards died in 1973, leaving his mark as one of the great ball players of all time.

No Wazzu basketball team has ever exceeded the 25-1 record set by the Washington State College nine man varsity squad of 1917.

Under the coaching of Doc Bohler, the team completed the season winning the Pacific Northwest Conference championship.

With three of their 1916 starters gone from the team, preseason predictions placed the Cougs somewhere near the bottom of the league. Working with the young, inexperienced players he had, Coach Bohler set out to develop one of the "speediest, shiftiest" teams that WSC had seen.

The Cougs one loss that year was to the University of California, 28-20.

Game scores tended to be much lower than they are today with most averaging within the 30 point range.

Washington State University's line of mascots began in 1927 when former Washington State Governor Roland Hartley presented the first cougar at a Homecoming game with Idaho during halftime.

The cub was first named "Governor Hartley." Later at the suggestion of the governor, the name was changed to "Butch." The name came from the late Herbert "Butch" Meeker, the former WSU football player and an All-American quarterback.

After Butch I passed away, Butch II was presented in 1938 by Governor Clarence D. Martin. Butch's domain overlooked Rogers Field.

Butch III reigned less than a year due to illness, when, perhaps, the most famous cougar arrived in 1942, as a gift by Governor Arthur B. Langlie. Butch IV was catnapped three times by students from the University of Idaho. Each time he was found in the Moscow area, once on the front porch of a sorority and even in a back seat of a car.

In October 1955, Butch IV died of heart failure. Butch V was replaced in 1955 with another cougar by Governor Langlie. Only one attempt was made to steal Butch V.

Governor Albert D. Rosellini gave WSU the present cougar in 1964. Butch VI also has been the victim of only one catnap. Spokane + Gonzaga University made Cougar Country cougarless for 27 hours in 1965. Butch was also plagued with a near fatal dose of barbiturates in 1973.

The mascots of WSU have depicted the spirit of Cougar Country for almost half a century now. The tawny-brown body and the snarling face will always remain as symbols of strength and power whether in a winning or losing season.

Victories Promote Bowl Hopes

Opening day of the season found the Cougars beating the University of Kansas Jayhawks. The Cougs, down 14-9 in the first quarter, rallied to score nine points and take the game, 18-14.

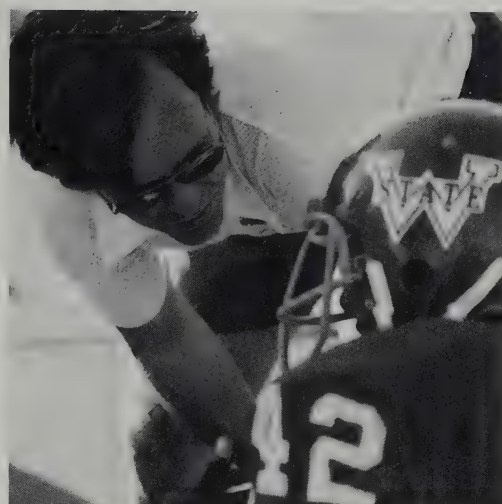

Sophomore kicker Chuck Diedrick was the offensive hero with a school record four field goals, one a 47-yarder. He also set a Pac-8 single game mark. Junior quarterback John Hopkins engineered the late fourth quarter touchdown drive.

Defensive standouts were end Mark Husfloen, who recovered two fumbles, both resulting in scores, and Dennis Dobberpuhl, who led the WSU defense with nine tackles.

With their first victory established, the Cougar football toes pointed eastward to Utah.

The Cougar offense came alive with a boom against Utah as WSU walked away with a 30-14 decision and a 2-0 season record. For the long-suffering Wazzu fan, it was an occasion for dancing in the streets.

Sophomore tailback Dan Doornink was the big gun as he tied a school record with three touchdowns on his way to rushing 23 times for 125 yards and catching two passes for 14 more. Quarterback John Hopkins completed 13 of 22 passes for 128 yards and two touchdowns.

Defensively end Mark Hustloen turned in his second straight outstanding performance as he blocked one pass, intercepted another and tackled the Utah quarterback for a safety.

The undefeated Cougars, buoyed by their success, eagerly anticipated a chance to avenge last year's "almost" win over the California Golden Bears, the next game for the Cougs and their first conference contest.

California

Sunburned faces and a disappointed crowd marked the close of the WSU-California clash as the Cougars experienced their first loss of the season. Many of the team's problems stemmed from the Cougs defense that was unable to contain the versatile Bears.

Safety Mark Patterson's key tackles and the third quarter pass interception for a 63 yard touchdown highlighted the otherwise inconsistent defense. Gavin Hedrick, punter for the Cougs, rescued the team more than once with punts which traveled 64 and 83 yards, breaking the old 80 year WSU record set in 1932.

Facing the 21-27 loss, the Cougars viewed the game as only a "temporary setback," and prepared to meet Illinois.

Illinois

Whatever great promises of victory the first quarter of the WSU-Illinois game seemed to hold were quickly stifled in the last three quarters of the battle. During the first 18 minutes the Cougars annihilated the Illinois defense and jumped to a 14-0 lead.

The second quarter looked as if it might be WSU's, too, when during the first few minutes defensive end Mark Husfloen intercepted an Illinois pass on the Illini 45 yard line. But before the crowd had even fully comprehended that the Cougars once again possessed the ball, Husfloen was hit at the 37 yard line and lost it.

For the remainder of the game Illinois had a field day, taking advantage of the Cougs lost poise and numerous errors.

Cal Terminates WSU's Winning Streak

USC

After suffering a humiliating 7-54 loss to USC last year, the Cougs had a debt to collect from the Trojans. But collecting what was owed proved to be easier said than done. In order to beat USC the Cougars needed to play a consistently superior game, and they lacked that consistency.

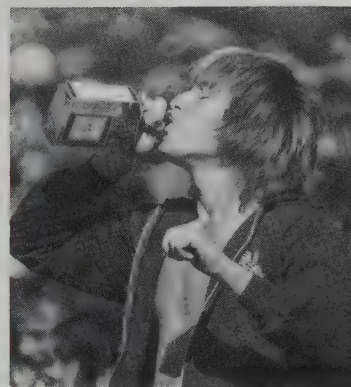

During the first half the Cougs' defense successfully held USC's sweep. Inside linebacker Scott Mullennix led the containment with twelve tackles, nine of them primary.

During the last two quarters the Trojans revised their offense, sending tailback Ricky Bell up the middle for 38 carries and 217 yards and one touchdown.

The Cougars kicking game was one of the major problems. Punter Gavin Hedrick knocked the ball for his usual long distance, but couldn't get it up high enough. USC's Danny Reece returned five of Hedrick's eight punts for 125 yards and two touchdowns.

Sophomore quarterback Jack Thompson engineered the only Cougar touchdown, completing five out of six passes in a 10-play, 80-yard drive.

With a final score of 10-28 and an 0-2 Pac-8 record, the Cougs returned home to meet UCLA in Spokane.

Records Fall with Vandals

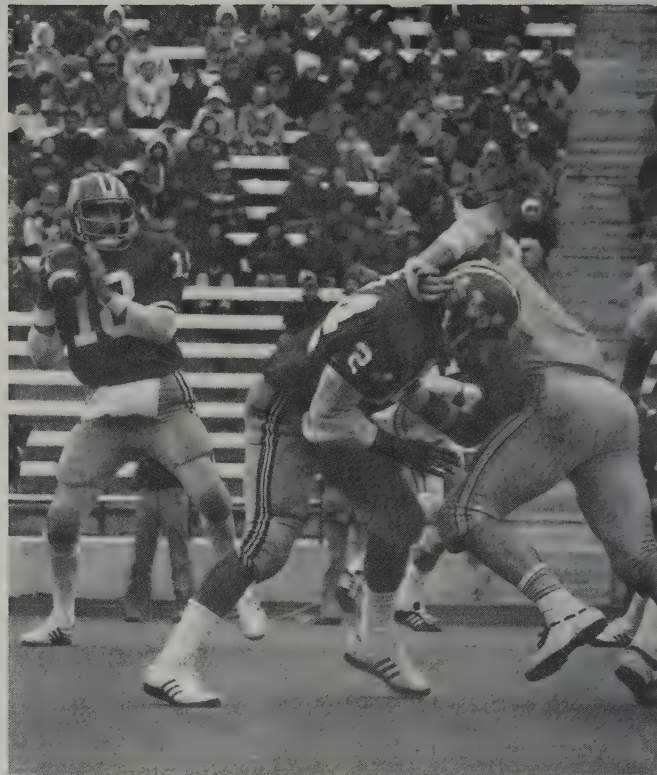

Oregon State

Six Cougar turnovers hindered any potential Cougar touchdown drives, giving Oregon State a 7-0 victory, their first of the season, and WSU's first shutout since 1971. The Beavers' only touchdown came in the second quarter when they intercepted a Cougar pass deep in WSU territory and ran the ball for a seven yard touchdown.

Wazzu's field goal attempt joined the growing list of crucial Cougar fumbles when the holder was unable to get the ball spotted down and placekicker Chuck Diedrick didn't get a chance to kick it.

Late in the fourth quarter the Cougars got their chance to tie the game when with 44 seconds left, OSU punted the ball. Tony Heath scooped the ball up on the Beavers' 28-yard-line and ran it in for a short-lived Cougar touchdown. Moments later, the officials ruled the ball dead at the 28 and WSU's last scoring hope ended with an OSU goal line interception.

As the clock ran out, the Cougars saw their best chance for a PAC-8 victory elude their grasp, and hoped that the WSU-Idaho, Battle of the Palouse, would not yield the same dismal results.

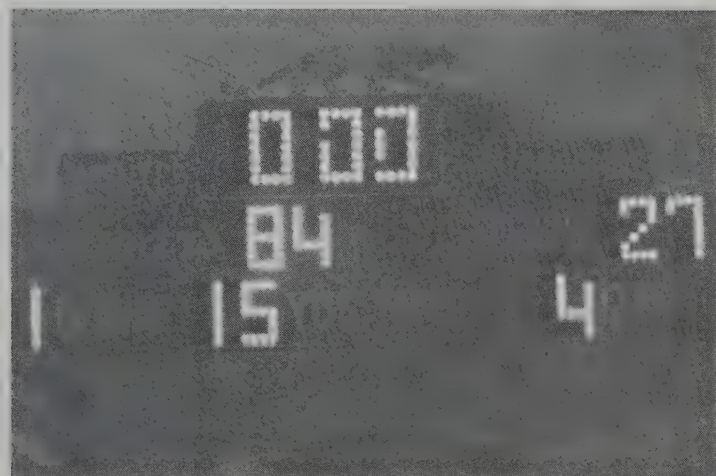

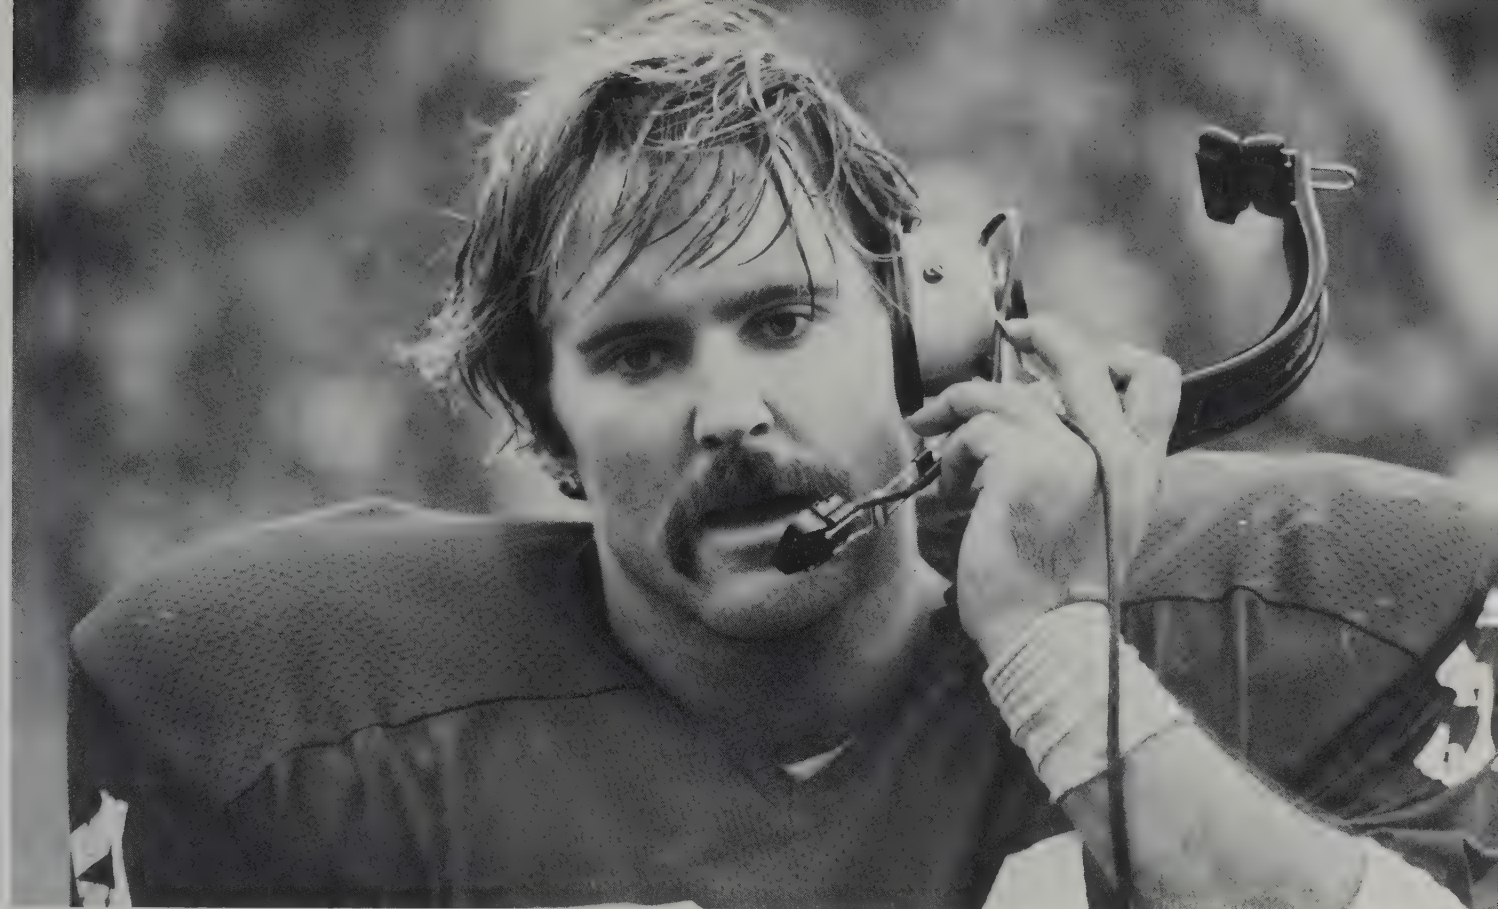

Idaho

After a seven game losing streak, WSU gave fans something to remember about the 1975 season with their 84-27 triumph over Idaho.

Record after record was broken as the Cougs ran over the weak Vandal defense. WSU's 12 touchdowns set a Cougar modern record, breaking the old mark of eight against Montana in 1942. Chuck Diedrick set an NCAA record, making 12 consecutive extra points in one game. WSU completed 90 percent of their passes, breaking the old mark of 77.8 percent against UCLA in 1973. The 693 net yards gained in total offense broke the old record of 649 set against Oregon in 1951.

WSU's 56 points in one half broke the old mark of 52 against Whitman set in 1929. With the wide point margin Coach Sweeney was able to play all 60 men who suited up for the game. Exhilarated with their victory the Cougars psyched themselves for their cross-state rivals, the UW, and looked to ending their season like they begun it—with a two game winning streak.

Washington

Intrastate rivalry games often take many strange and unexpected turns. The WSU-UW game was no exception. It was a 28-27 heartbreaking loss that shouldn't have been.

Predicted to be the underdogs of the competition, the Cougars surprised the crowd with their offensive ground game which put them in the lead for most of the game.

Bringing the dreaded germ of the fumble plague across the state with them, the Cougars gratefully watched as the disease took its toll on the Huskies, and rolled up three touchdowns and one field goal on UW turnovers.

With 3 minutes, 7 seconds left on the clock and a comfortable 27-14 lead, the game seemed to be safely in the hands of WSU. A fourth down situation on the Husky 14-yard-line forced the Cougars to decide whether to go for the touchdown or call in Chuck Diedrick for a field goal attempt.

Hoping to catch the UW defense off guard, quarterback John Hopkins called a quick pass to the tight-end. Much to the Cougars dismay the Huskies intercepted the pass and ran the ball 93 yards for a touchdown.

The rest of the time was the Huskies', who ran up one more touchdown, destroying the Cougars lead and taking the game.

And another season came to an end for the Cougars, their early season Rosebowl dreams dissolved into a sea of losses.

Turnovers, Injuries Haunt Cougars

UCLA

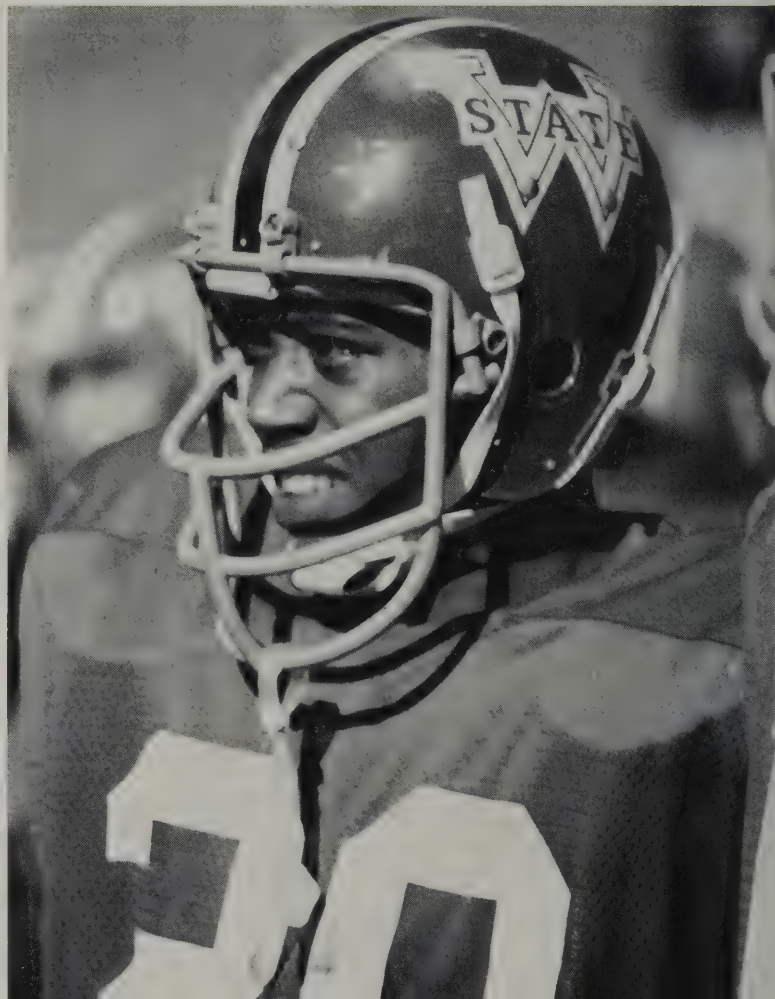

With the great god of injuries against our fighting men of the Palouse, the UCLA Bruins rolled by the Cougs, 37-23, in Spokane.

Quarterback John Hopkins, fullback Vern Chamberlain and linebacker Jerry Payne, all suffered injuries during the game that forced them to retire for the day. With several other key Cougars down and out with various ailments, Sweeney was forced to use some of his younger inexperienced players against a strong seasoned, Rose-sniffing Bruin team.

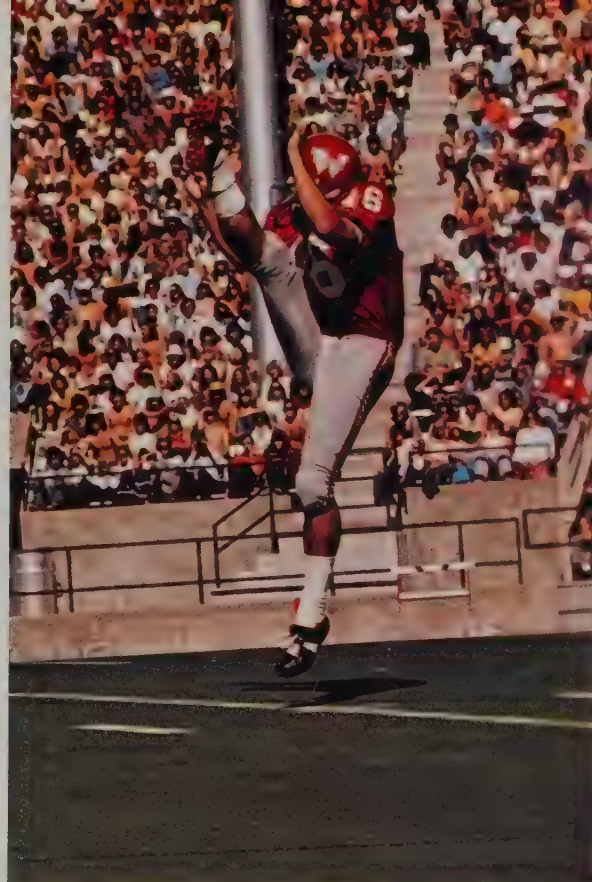

Sophomore Jack Thompson, taking over for Hopkins, did a credible job completing 16 of 34 passes for 218 yards and two touchdowns, and Vaughn Williams rushed for 89 yards and one TD, filling in for Chamberlain.

A 2-0 season seemed to be many moons ago. Still seeking their first conference win, the Cougs gritted their teeth and headed for Stanford.

Stanford

"There are two things that turn a close game, statistically, into a rout," Coach Jim Sweeney said, "big plays and turnovers. We had the turnovers and Stanford the big plays."

For Sweeney's Cougars close statistics weren't enough to turn around a 54-14 loss. Both teams had 25 first downs and combined for more than 1,000 yards in total offense, 603 for Stanford and 430 for WSU, but five pass interceptions and three fumbles gave Stanford the assistance they needed in running up a 40 point victory margin.

Nursing the wounds of defeat inflicted by all four California schools, the Cougs looked forward to the lighter portion of their schedule and a hopeful Homecoming victory over the Pac-8 winless Oregon Ducks.

Oregon

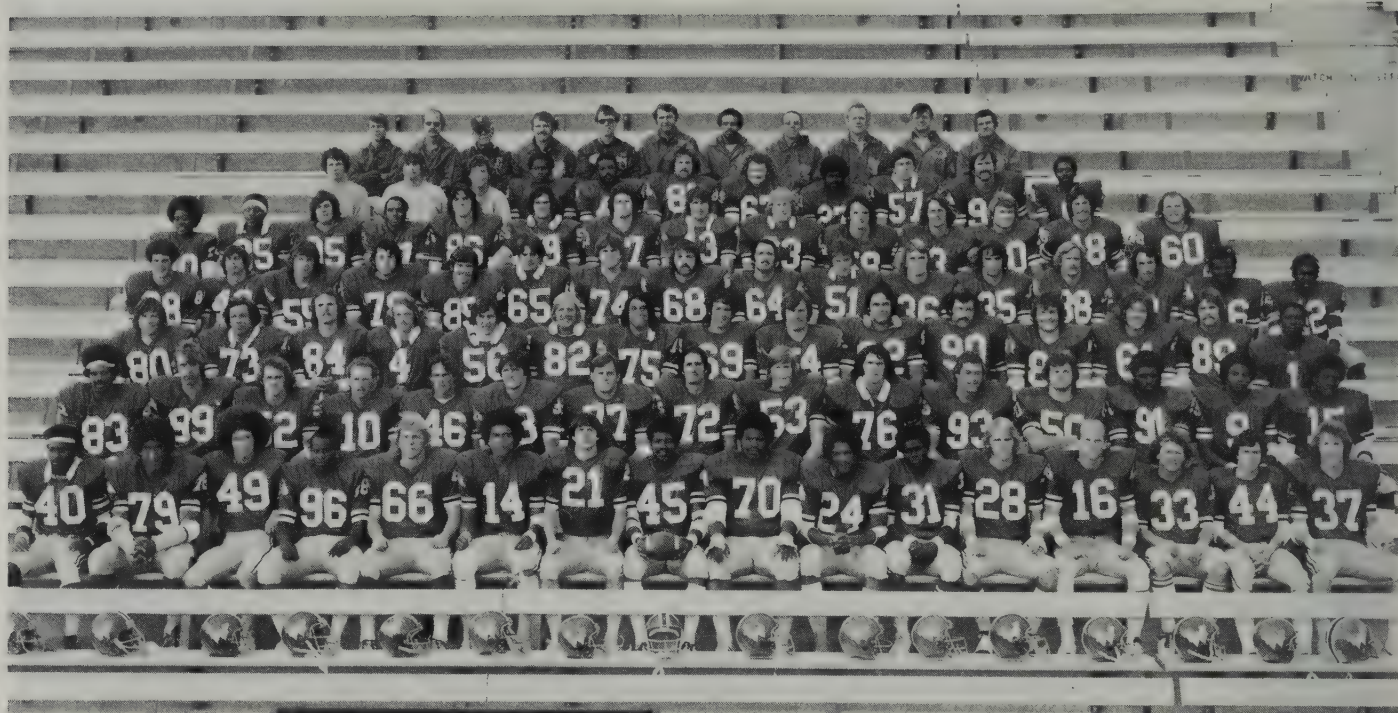

The Cougs' predicted nine-point victory over Oregon turned into a 26-14 Homecoming upset for Wazzu students and alumni alike. Cougar turnovers were numerous and the Ducks, more than willing to take advantage, scored all but six of their points on fumbles and pass interceptions.

Sweeney was quick to defend the defense. "We didn't have the ball long enough in the second half to give the defense a rest. I think our kids played as hard as hell on defense."

With only three games remaining to play in the season the Cougs looked anxiously to improving their 2-6 win-loss record.

Booters Turn In 6-9-3 Season

Encountering tough opposition, the WSU booters managed to remain towards the top of the Northwest Inter-collegiate Soccer League to take second with a 6-3-3 season and 6-9-3 in overall play.

Coach Kevin Batdorf named Gary Sleight, inside fullback, the defensive player of the year for WSU.

The offensive line contributed a balanced attack with Mike Hanson, inside forward, leading the team to help bring the Cougs to a winning season in league play.

Named this year to the 1975 All-Star Team for the NISL were goalie John Pierce, defensive player Bryce Landrud and Steve Hughes as offensive player.

New Maturity Produces Wins

Early season basketball provided a few surprises for Cougar fans, as they watched a team with a "polish" that WSU has lacked in recent years. With Steve Puidokas averaging 11.5 rebounds, Ronny Davis averaging 18.7 points and Marty Giovacchini totaling 56 assists, the Cougars played consistently good offense and defense.

In their season opener, WSU downed San Diego State, 86-81, and shot 52.7 percent from the floor and 82.4 percent from the free throw line. Behind 43-39 at the half, the Cougs, showing a new second half confidence, took the lead with 11 minutes remaining and held it the rest of the game.

Following their San Diego performance, 7500 fans watched as WSU beat Jacksonville, 82-77. All five Wazzu starters scored in double figures, producing a total team effort victory.

Playing once again in Bohler Gym, The "Pac-8 crackerbox," the Cougars annihilated Southwestern Louisiana, 99-65, and ended the losing curse which has haunted the gym for years. Ignoring the crowd's cry for 100, Coach George Raveling took the opportunity to play Steve Johnson, John Tessum, and James Donaldson. Jim Hatfield, coach for Louisiana, commented in regard to his team's humiliating defeat, "The turning point in the game was when they tossed up the ball for the opening tip."

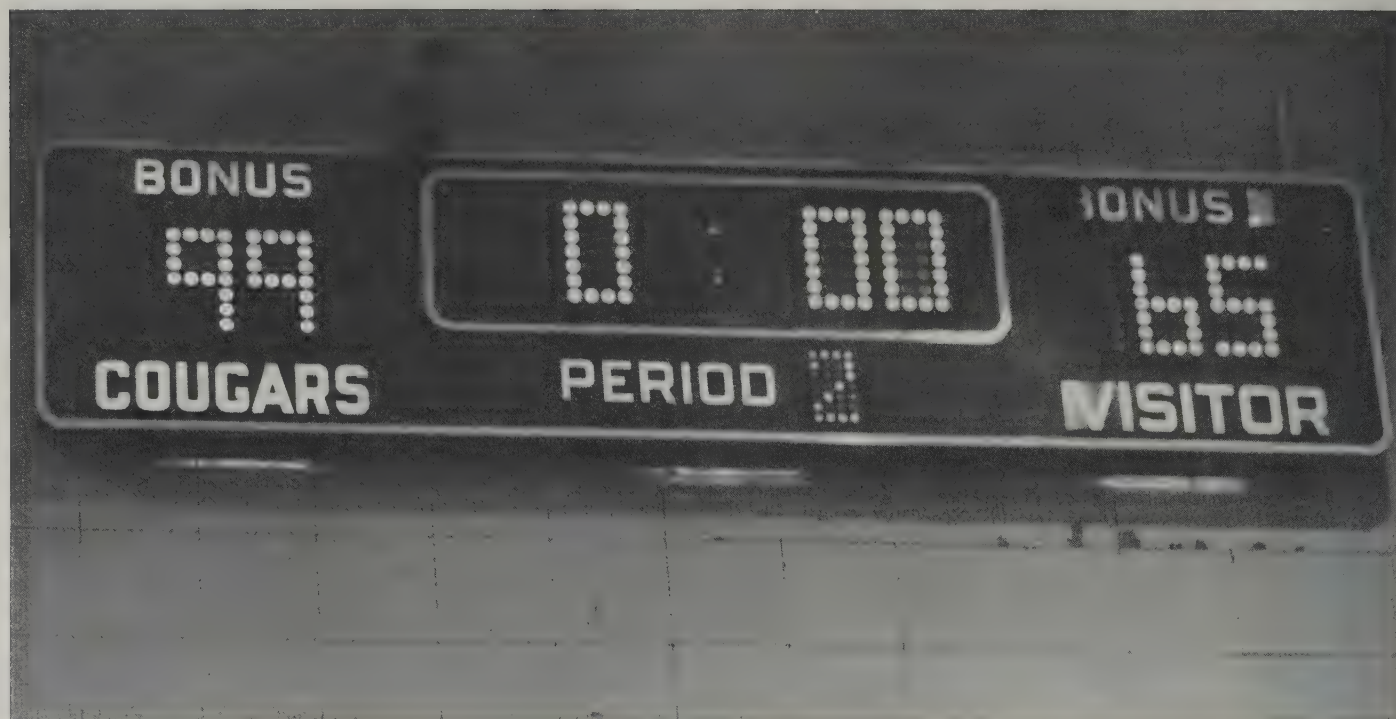

In Pac-8 action the 17th rated Oregon State Beavers dealt the Cougars their first loss, 82-73. Coach Raveling felt the team was "too mentally up for the game," and blamed the loss on careless passing and a lack of intensity on defense. Previously averaging only 12 turnovers per game, the Cougs lost the ball 19 times, over half of them in the first 20 minutes.

Disappointed with their loss to OSU, WSU faced Oregon with the mature playing ability and confidence which earlier games had shown. Taking the game 78-69, the Cougars grabbed their first victory over Oregon in four years. Ron Davis added 25 points to the scoreboard and took over the lead as the team's top scorer.

Pinpointing maturity as the difference between this year's team and last year's, Coach Raveling commented on the team's poise and intensity on both offense and defense.

Best Season In Raveling Era

Calling the 1975-76 basketball season the "first tangible evidence of progress in the program," Coach George Raveling felt satisfied with his team's 18-8 record, the best season to date during the Raveling era.

The season saw 27 WSU and conference records broken, including a free throw by Steve Puidokas that netted him his 1412th point, making him WSU's all-time leading career scorer.

In conference play the Cougars racked up an 8-6 win-loss total, good for a fifth place standing in the Pac-8 league, the first time since 1956 a winning conference record did not assure at least a fourth place finish in the league.

Washington State's March 6, 61-59 victory over the University of Washington was pointed out by Raveling as the most exciting game of the season. The Cougars gained the advantage in that game when Washington's top rebounder and scorer, seven foot James Edwards fouled out after only 18 minutes of play.

Playing in front of 12,100 people, a record breaking Performing Arts Coliseum crowd, the Cougars fell to a rebounding battle with UCLA, yielding a 91-71 loss for WSU. The second half contributed greatly to WSU's loss as the Bruins dominated the boards, out-scoring the Cougars 8-2 in the first two minutes.

Despite their 18-8 season, the Cougars were not invited to either the NCAA or NIT playoff tournaments.

Based on their season playing, both Ron Davis and Steve Puidokas were elected for the Olympic tryout team. Puidokas was also chosen for the All-Coast first team and Davis was picked as runner-up for the most valuable player in the East Coast All Star game.

Cross Country: first in Pac-8

Finishing their season first in the Pac-8 and second in the NCAA, the Cougar Cross Country team turned in an outstanding season.

With Kurt Beckman, Phil English, Joshua Kimeto, Samson Kimombwa and John Ngeno running for WSU the team accumulated a conference record low score of 23 at the Pac-8 race. It was the fourth time in five years that the Cougs have taken the meet.

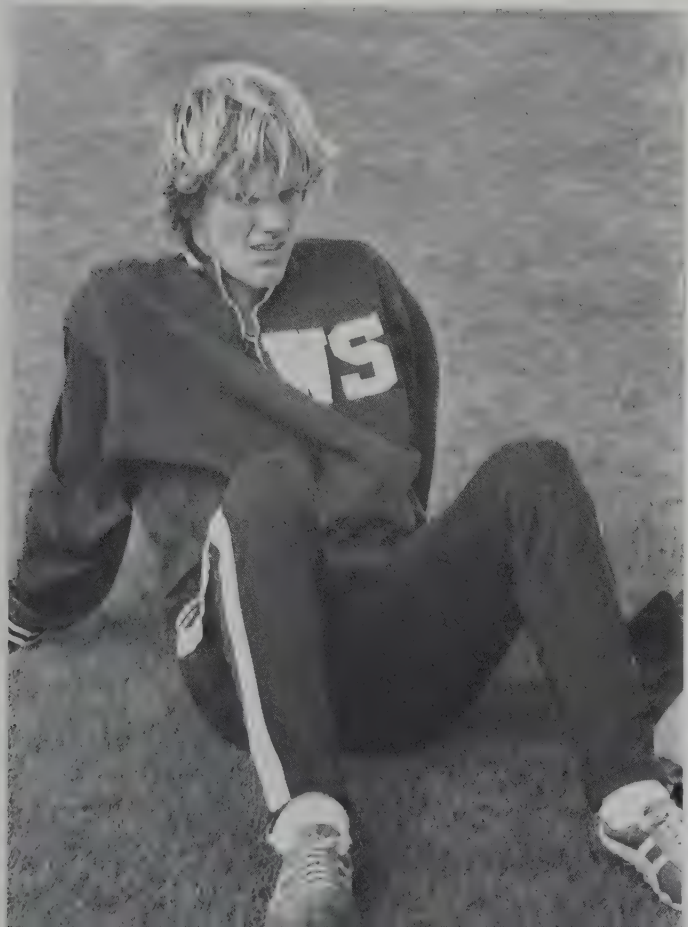

Ngeno finished third out of 300 runners in the NCAA race, followed by Kimeto in the 14th place, Beckman in 20th, Kimombwa in 37th and English in 47th.

In early season competition the Cougs took the Idaho Invitational, Montana and the Northern Division meet.

Guy Arbogast, another top Cougar runner caught pneumonia prior to the Pac-8 race and was unable to finish the season.

WSU and Stanford were the only schools in the Pac-8 this year unable to grant scholarships. Coincidentally, they ended up sixth and seventh respectively in the championship meet. Senior Bob Dickmeyer, placing 7th in vaulting, was WSU's only finalist in the meet.

Scholarship Cut Hurts Recruiting

A lack of scholarships proved to be the Cougars' undoing this year as they finished the season with a 6-9 record and 6th in the Pac-8.

Due to athletic budget cuts, Coach Roger James was unable to offer any new scholarships this year. "It put me at a disadvantage in recruiting," James said.

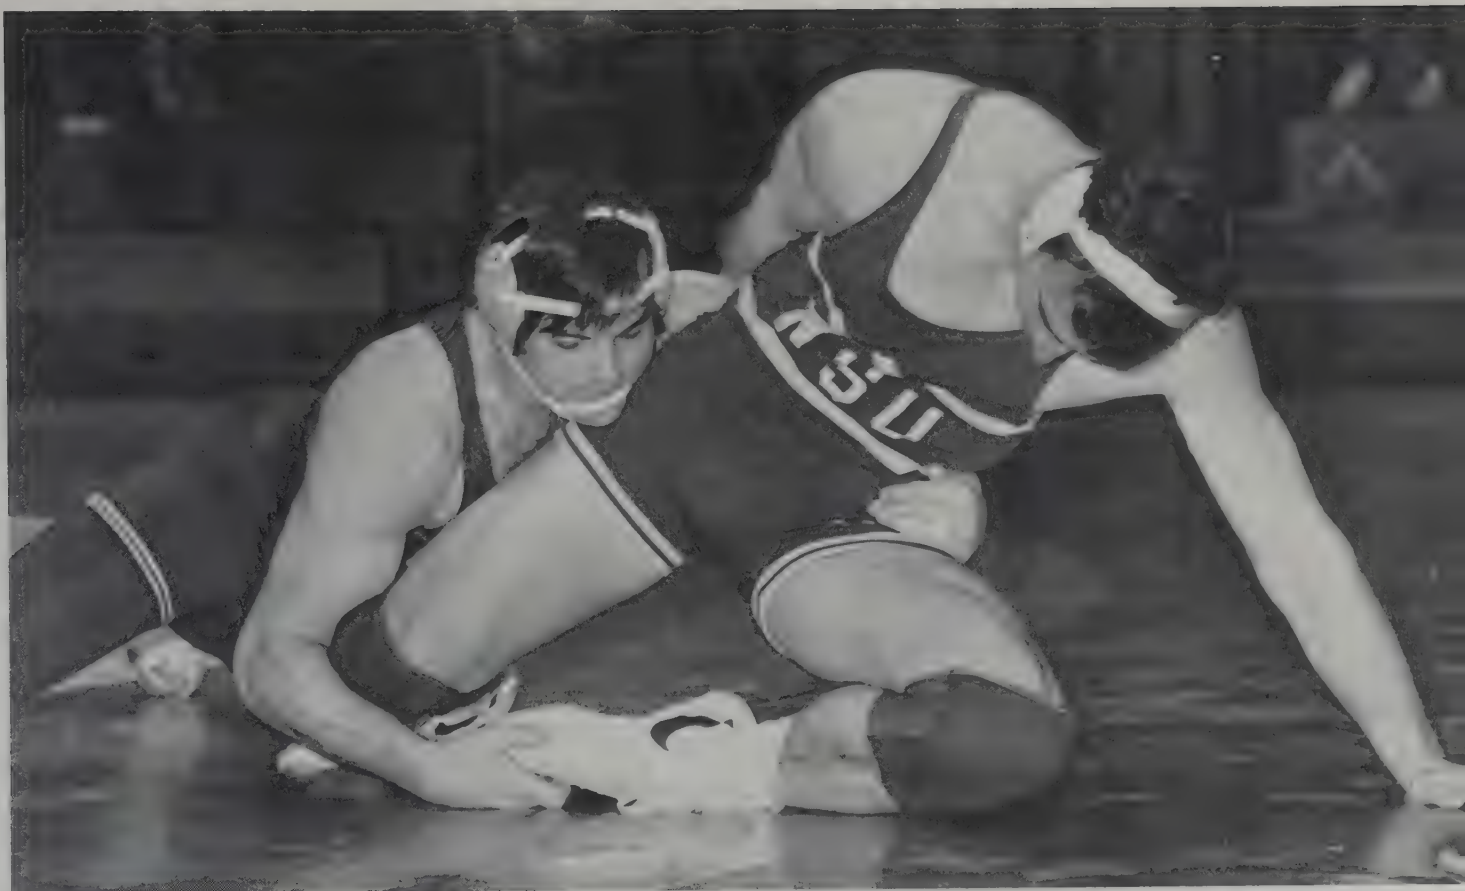

Many of the freshman wrestlers were inexperienced, James added. "Even though some of them had losing records this year, in another year they will be good prospects."

Senior Bill Kullberg finished first in the Pac-8 with a 22-8 record in the 167 and 177 pound weight division. Junior Terry Fog placed second in the Pac-8 at 134 and 144 pounds and Freshman Jerry Reddinger finished 4th in the Pac-8 at 126 pounds.

Going into the Pac-8 tournament the Cougars lost Junior Mike Jostrom, their top wrestler, to illness.

Team tryouts are open to all students and competition is scheduled for both varsity and junior varsity in most sports.

Each year the size of the program has expanded due to an increasing interest in women's sports.

Zest makes up for inexperience

Audra Carlson

Lacking the experienced players necessary for a winning season, the Women's Field Hockey team accumulated a 9-9-3 record as they learned fundamentals of the game.

After losing seven of her eleven starting players to graduation, Coach Marilyn Mowatt was forced to fill the empty positions with junior varsity players or players new to the team.

Coach Mowatt said that when you start with a virtually new team, one of the biggest problems is finding the right position for each girl.

The high scorer for the team was Prudence Miles with six points, followed by Betty Wells with three. Denise Peterson was singled out as an outstanding goalie as well as a strong team leader.

Volleyball—5th in Regionals

Accumulating a 24-12 record for 1975 and placing 5th in the Northwest NCWSA Regional Tournament, Coach Sue Durrant felt that the women's volleyball team's season was equally as good as last year's.

Competing with schools from Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, WSU was the only team outside of Oregon to finish among the top five in the regional contest.

Junior Jan Cunningham led the team statistically, turning in consistently good serving, passing, spiking and blocking performances.

Senior co-captains Dee Coffin and Sue English were also noted by Durrant as being strong players.

Interest in volleyball ran high this year with over 80 girls trying out for the squad.

Despite a lack of snow for training, the WSU women's ski team placed 3rd in alpine and 2nd in cross country at the NCWSA Regional Championships.

Bare slopes at North-South Ski Bowl forced the team to prepare for meets with a dry land conditioning program of running, weight lifting and pole running.

Coach Bente Kjoss-Hansen was pleased with her team's performance. Mentioning that she had no competing seniors this year, she expects a more experienced, stronger team next winter.

Left: Sandy Ackley and Dode Smilanich practice pole plant running in preparation for their next ski meet.

Basketball: 5th Place in Regionals

After a slow start, the women's basketball team came back later in the season to take 5th place in the Northwest region and ended with a 9-16 record.

The team finished third in the Eastern area division, qualifying them to play in the regional tournament.

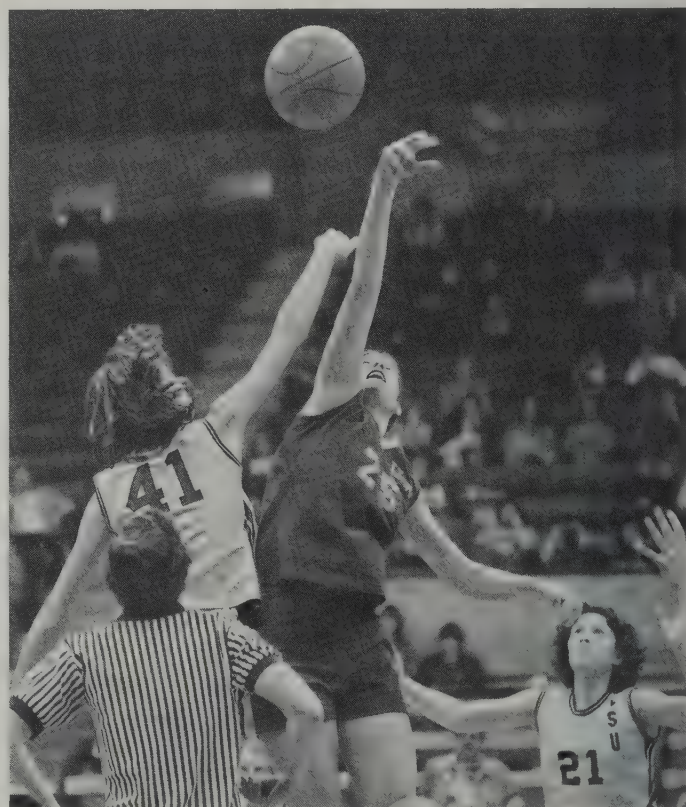

"The team was young this year. Most of the members were either freshman or sophomores," Coach Sue Durrant said. "We were a lot better than most people expected," she added.

By mid-season the team had learned to play consistent offense and strong defense and were beating teams whom they had lost to earlier.

Katie Gray, with 206 points, was the top scorer for the Cougars and Janet Kusler led in rebounds with 261.

The junior varsity basketball team, playing mostly Inland Empire schools, finished their season with a 6-3 record. Their only losses were to Gonzaga and Walla Walla Community College.

Swimmers Send One to Nationals

Waiting for the gun, WSU swimmers prepare to plunge into the pool.

In what Coach Wilma Harrington termed as a successful season, the WSU women's swim team placed 7th out of 19 schools in the NCWSA regional tournament and broke eight school records.

Coach Harrington said almost everyone showed their best times in the regional tournament.

School records were broken by Dawn Kuntz, Laurie Grantham, Lynn Gourley, Gloria Sherfey, Marianne Berry, Kathy Pflueger and Cindy Walston.

Participating in six duel meets, the Cougars lost only one, ending their season with a 5-1 record.

Taking 1st place in both one and three meter diving competition at the regionals, Teri Leonard qualified for the national tournament in Florida.

Gymnasts Take 9th at Regionals

Finishing their season with a strong performance, the WSU women's gymnastics team placed ninth out of sixteen competing teams at the N.C.W.S.A. regional meet. Coach Diane Albright felt that everyone on the team did well on their meet routines. She was particularly pleased with the performances turned in by the Cougar balance beam competitors.

Three year all-around competitor Nanette Hall was mentioned by Coach Albright as probably the most consistent gymnast. Nanette completed her best season of competition this year.

The team "really came on towards the end of the season," Albright commented. She especially mentioned the improvement made during the season by the freshman gymnasts.

Freshman gymnast Karen Anderson performs a high leg lift on the balance beam.

Netters Capture 1st at District

With a high degree of skill and a team-unifying spirit, the Cougar women's tennis team completed a 6-3 season and captured the number one spot in the Eastern Area District Championship. Cougar netters Jo Montgomery and Anne Sugars won the number one doubles team championship at the meet.

The entire WSU squad qualified to participate in the Northwest Region Championships where they placed second behind the University of Washington.

During their regular season, the women netters lost only to Central Washington State College and the University of Washington. Coach Bente Kjoss-Hansen pointed out that this year is the first time that the Cougars have beaten the University of Oregon.

Gray Qualifies for Regionals

Participating in only three regular meets, the WSU women's track team finished their season with two 2nd places and one 3rd place.

The team also competed in the area track meet where they placed 8th out of 19 teams. Long jumper Katie Gray was the only team member to qualify for the N.C.W.S.A. regional track meet where she jumped 18.5 feet to tie for 3rd place.

Coach Dot Dobie was pleased with the team's season performance although she mentioned it was discouraging for the girls to have so few meets.

Right: Jan Cunningham, 400 meter hurdles, Gloria Shurfey, mile run and Katie Gray, long jump prepare for an upcoming meet with a rigorous practice.

Inexperience Yields 6-12 Record

With only three participating returning lettermen, the men's tennis team suffered at the hands of more experienced squads this year.

The men ended their season with a 6-12 record. However, Coach Rex Davis said everyone greatly improved their game over the season.

Number one and number two singles players, Roger Tyzzer and Mark Walters, were picked out by Davis as the two most improved players. Walters played number six singles last year, but was forced to fill the number two spot this year because of a lack of returning players.

Tennis scholarship cuts also hurt the team this year. The tennis team just cannot compete with scholarship schools like the University of Washington, Coach Davis said.

Shell Loss Hurts Women's Crew

The second year of women's crew saw the purchase of their first shell, its destruction, much competition and a position in the finals of the Northwest Regional Championships.

A 20 mile row-a-thon made possible the purchase of a women's sectional eightman shell, but 300 miles of safe journey from Seattle proved futile when just outside of Pullman a gust of wind lifted the fragile mid-section off of the truck to which it was strapped, snapping its securing.

Disappointed but defiant, the women rowed on. Completing a 60 mile row up the Snake river to raise money for oars and to pay for repairs, a 10 mile run to Moscow, and competition with SPC, UW, PLU, UPS Oregon Schools and other Seattle area rowing clubs, made up the season.

The season's high point was a fifth place finish by the open weight four, stroked by Kristi Norelius, in final competition at the NW Regionals.

Crew Heavy Boat Beats U.W.

Stroking their way to a fifth place tie finish in the Pac-8, the Cougar men's crew team turned in a successful season. The crew completed their best performance at the WSU Invitational meet where they won in all the events. Later in the season the Cougar heavy boat beat the University of Washington for the first time in crew history.

Coach Ken Struckmeyer was impressed by the large crew turnout this year. He said that crew members must be extremely dedicated to the sport. This year each team member had to pay $70 of his own money to finance the trip to the Stewards Cup race in San Francisco, as well as turn out for long hours of early morning practice.

Team members of the frosh eight-man shell stroke to a second place finish in the Mother's Weekend race against the U.W.

Track: Early Record is Perfect

Losing only to the University of Oregon in regular season meets, the WSU track squad compiled a 7-1 record. Despite the loss to Oregon, Cougar trackmen Dwight Midles, hammer thrower, Gene Lorenzen, javelin thrower, and Phil English, steeplechase, each bettered their personal records in the meet.

During the first half of their season the team faced what they considered to be relatively easy competition. Maiming Boise State, 152-16, "without working up a sweat," the Cougs held back top scorers Tim Giesa, 440 runner, Lee Braach, high jumper and Harry Kooznetsoff, javelin thrower, for tougher meets.

The only early season competition the Cougars expected any trouble from was Oregon State. However, WSU annihilated the Beavers, 121-42, and sprinter Gary Minor was honored as the Pac-8 track athlete of the year.

The Cougars produced one of their most satisfying victories of the season when they overwhelmed rival Washington 117-45. WSU seniors Gary Minor, Kip Ngeno, John Ngeno, Ray Kimble and Dale Scott led the Cougs in their final regular season meet. Overall, WSU took 13 of the 19 events.

At the Pac-8 conference meet, the Cougars took a disappointing 4th place behind UCLA, Washington and USC. John Ngeno highlighted WSU's performance in the meet as he won the 5,000 meter race, taking his fifth Pac-8 title.

Baseball: 16-2 in League Play

Taking the Northern Division title for the seventh straight year, the Cougar baseball team culminated their season with a 16-2 league play record. Depth and a well balanced team provided the winning key for the Cougs as they played an equally strong offense and defense.

In their opening league series, the Cougar mound staff stifled Oregon in all three games, moving WSU into an early season first place. Pitchers Bob Sherwood, Dave Edler and Chris Camp allowed the Ducks a three game total of only nine hits.

A week later the Cougs lost two of three games to the Oregon State Beavers, suffering the only league defeats they were to experience all season.

Facing their arch rival, the University of Washington, the WSU batmen trounced the Huskies 9-1, 11-5 and 9-0 in Seattle. A combination of outstanding Cougar pitching and a weak Husky defense accounted for the runaway in the series. The three victories ran Wazzu's record to 7-2, keeping them ahead of OSU in the league race.

With the stinging memory of their last defeat by OSU, the Cougs met the Beavers for the second time. Taking all three games in the series, the Cougars' memories were more than soothed. Tim Tveit provided much of the series momentum, as he batted in seven runs in the third game.

Cougs Make NCAA Finals

In late season action the Coug batmen swept away Oregon, 1-0, 13-3 and 3-2, giving WSU its second set of three game victories over the Ducks.

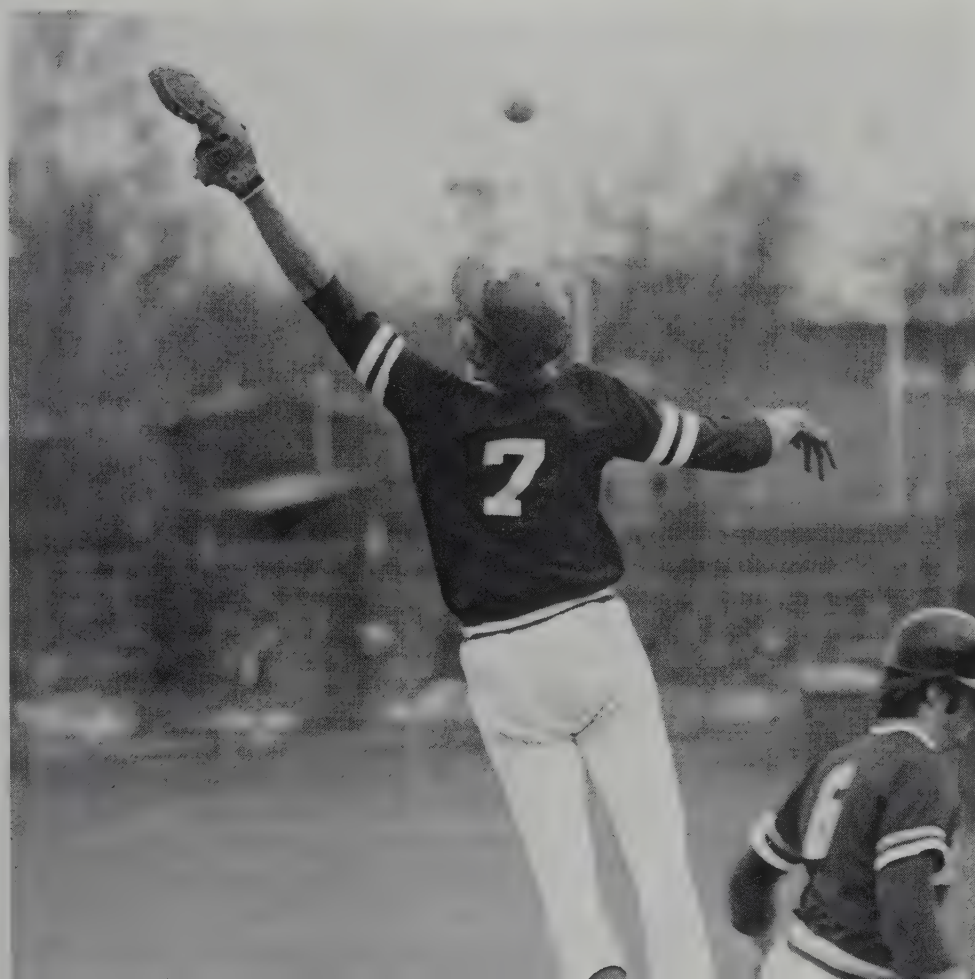

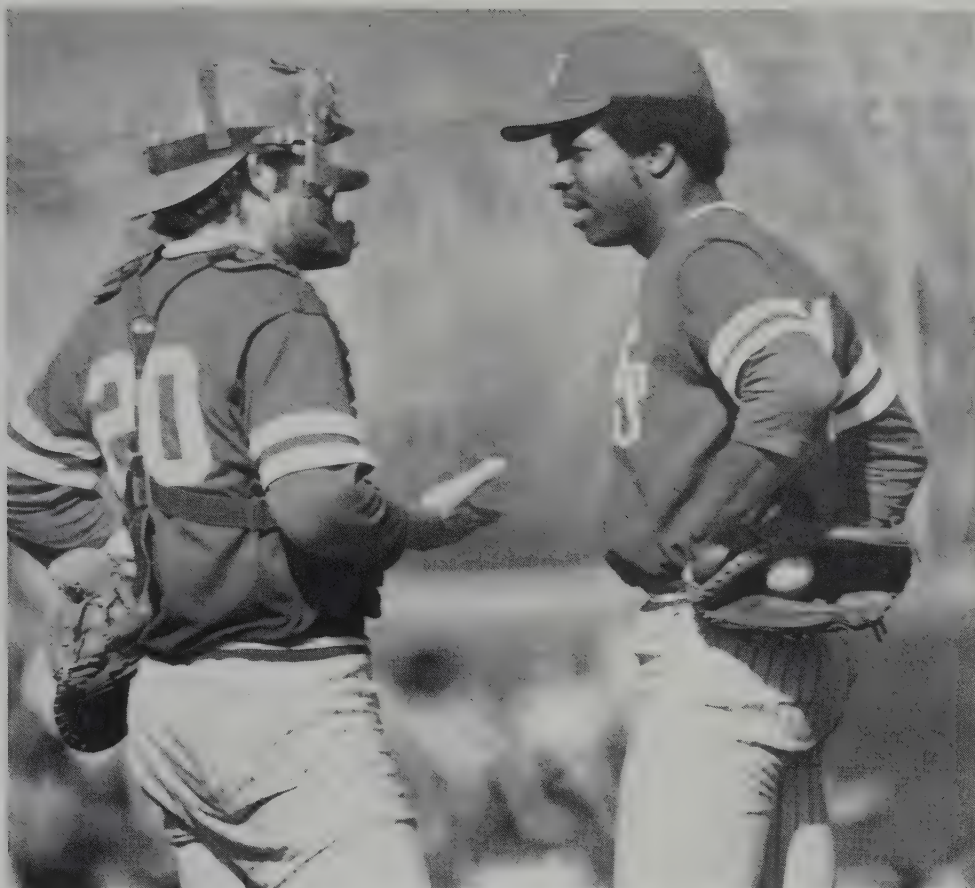

The Cougars closed their league season by destroying Washington, 18-3, 13-3 and 19-3. Coming off of a midseason hitting slump, Phil Westendorf blasted the Husky pitchers for four hits, one a homer and one a double, to contribute to the Cougars' first game victory over the Dogs.

The series victory clinched the Northern Division first place for the Cougars and guaranteed them a berth in the NCAA Regional playoffs.

Quickly eliminating the other playoff competitors, WSU faced Fullerton to determine the Far West's representative to the College World Series.

Above: Sliding into second base only inches ahead of the UW throw, Tom Jobb steals another one for the Cougs. Right: Phil Westendorf comes to bat for WSU. Westendorf led the season home run totals with six.

After a first game victory over Fullerton the World Series seemed only inches away for the Cougs as they needed only one victory in two games with Fullerton to gain a berth at Omaha. But after the 2-game series was postponed by rain three times WSU appeared to have lost momentum as WSU lost the first game.

In the final game Fullerton's ace pitcher, Dan Boone, tired in the third inning and WSU walked away with the game, 7-2, and a World Series spot.

IM Offers Varied Program

The intramural program at WSU exists as a student service, providing a chance for every student to participate in a competitive sport.

Thirty-five sports, from football to inner-tube water polo, are offered for men, women and coed competition. Interest in the program, particularly from women, has grown immensely in the last few years, with teams coming from living groups both on campus and off.

In 1893 construction began on the first major building on the newly developed campus of Washington Agriculture College. The Administration Building was completed in the fall of 1894. The brick used in making the building was made on the grounds from clay taken from the area where Stevens Hall now stands. The dedication of the Administrative Building on June 26, 1895, was a festive event beginning at 10 a.m. and lasting well into the afternoon. There were 2,000 people in attendance.

The administration of Washington Agriculture College in 1893 totalled 12. This staff consisted of eight full faculty members (President E. O. Bryan included) and four sub-collegiate members. The first registration day, Sept. 13, 1893, enrolled 23 students, a disappointing number, but by the year's end 110 had been enrolled.

Today the old Administration Building is used for classes and has been renamed Thompson Hall. The administrative functions now take place at the French Administration Building, whose modern design can more capably care for the needs of more than 16,000 students currently enrolled.

WSU Board of Regents

Board of Regents: Mrs. Andrew Williams, Robert P. Gibb, W. Glenn Terrell, H.H. Hayner, Michael Dederer, Robert W. Strausz, Harold A. Romberg, Mrs. Holt W. Webster.

Governor Daniel J. Evans

The first WSU Board of Regents was formed shortly after the founding of the college in 1891. Then, as now, the Regents represented many different occupations and hailed from all parts of the State of Washington.

The original group of Regents met for the first time in Olympia on April 22, 1891. The Regents were zealous in working toward the creation of an "Athens in the Palouse". In their efforts to accomplish this task money was spent lavishly. By the end of 1893 the young college was on the verge of financial collapse. All was saved by intervention of residing Governor John H. McGraw who subsequently fired all the original Regents.

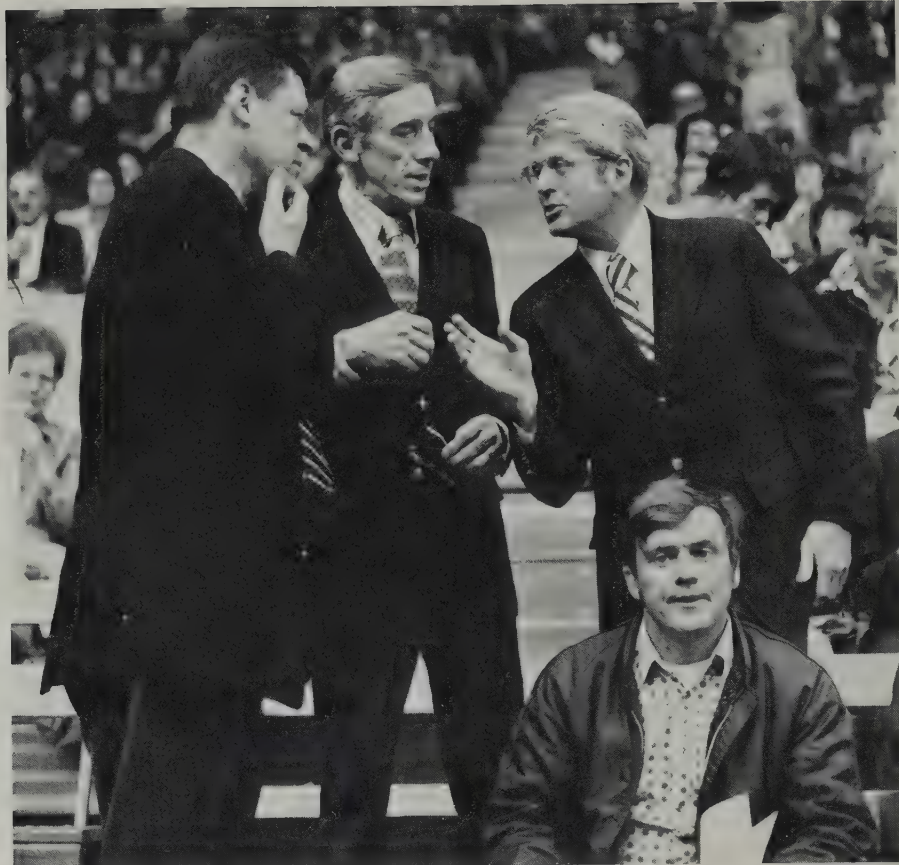

From that rather dubious origin comes the present membership and structure of the Board of Regents. The Regents are appointed by the governor and ratified by the state senate. The term of appointment is six years.

The Board meets about 9-10 times yearly, usually in Pullman. But the schedule remains flexible as to time, date and place.

The function of the Regents is to approve all monetary transactions and policy decisions of the university or to delegate this responsibility to the administration.

The Home Economics concept was initiated in 1902 and grew to the first College of Home Economics in the country in 1916. It's emphasis was on the study of laws, conditions and ideals concerned with man's physical environment. Learning to cook is helpful in this endeavor.

One year after the founding of WSU, the Economic Science and History department began offering courses in business and economics. The department was formalized into a School of Business Administration in 1928 and has grown considerably since then.

Opening its doors on the same day WSU opened, the Department of Education, with a faculty of five, placed its main emphasis on secondary education. Elementary Education was added to the curriculum in the 1950's.

WSU Colleges: A Proud History

College of Veterinary Medicine

Dr. Leo K. Bustad
Dean, College of Veterinary Medicine

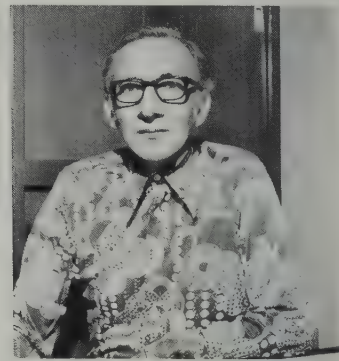

Progress and increasing enrollment have been the major factors for transforming WSU's College of Veterinary Medicine into a regional curriculum for Idaho, Oregon, and Washington.

This $13 million transformation, the first of its kind in the world, calls for co-operation among the three universities in expanding their programs and facilities. Dr. Bustad, Dean of WSU's Vet Med program, will be the executive dean in charge of the WSU Northwest College of Veterinary Medicine.

The primary purpose of the proposed program is to accommodate more students. At the present time, 76 out of 730 applicants were accepted to WSU's program. The regional curriculum will increase the chances for student entrance. Eight students from Idaho have already started in the program. The number will soon increase to fifteen from Idaho and as many as eight from WSU.

College of Economics and Business

Dr. Eugene Clark
Dean, College of Economics and Business

In 1893 only three courses were offered in the department of Economic Science and History. Today, the department has developed into the College of Economics and Business with 70 courses and a graduate school.

The recently established Hotel Administration Program in Seattle offers a unique solution for Pullman's isolated location. The program combines public and private educational resources.

Students in this two year program take 30 credits in classes taught by WSU professors at rented Seattle University Facilities.

Interest from WSU students and faculty and other universities may in the future build off-campus programs throughout the nation.

College of Education

Dr. George B. Brain
Dean, College of Education

New courses have been added to the College of Education enhancing the teaching perspective. These recent classes have brought attention to handicapped, special education and gifted students. Career education classes have also been added.

In addition, a new Teachers Corp in the Tri-Cities this year has begun to study sensitive cultures.

A faculty of over a 100 aids in the presentation of courses. Former Cougars are now holding jobs in many local, national and international educational agencies.

College of Engineering

The emphasis in the College of Engineering at WSU has been strong since the 1890's and the early days of the college. The graduates from this field will play an important role in man's social and technological growth. They will be the managers of change, helping to solve problems of resource management, health care, food production and environmental preservation.

The engineering college at WSU occupies nine buildings which hold classrooms, labs and physical equipment all devoted to modern scientific and technical education and research. The engineering library supplements Holland library with 900,000 books. The technical shops provide and prepare equipment needed in their research currently underway in the Antarctic.

Electrical Engineers are involved in the development and generation of energy, advanced computers and communications systems. Agricultural engineers affect all phases of the agricultural profession including production, processing and marketing. Those in civil engineering will plan, design, construct and operate the essential physical facilities.

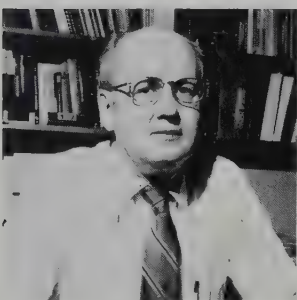

The chemical engineer is concerned with the practical, profitable uses of chemistry. Important research in chemistry and for oil companies is done by them. They are also involved with nuclear and fossil fuel energy. Materials Science and Engineering learn to select materials for application and how to develop new materials. Architecture students learn to design and build an environment for people. Mechanical engineers are concerned with manufacturing and production of material we use in our civilization.

College of Home Economics

In an attempt to be in harmony with a nation-wide philosophy of Home Economics, the family in its various forms is the primary area of study for the College of Home Economics. The family is a unit of intimate, transacting and interdependent persons who have a commitment to one another. Using this concept, the department strives to maintain a balance between the family and the environment.

The core of the college is found in people seeking an education which leads them to help other people relate the man-made and natural environment to their own and their families' lives. In doing this they look toward human development, private and public decisions, and the economy in our changing society.

At present, Washington State University's college of Home Economics is critically examining the profession and comparing it to the program now. The end result will be a home economist who is creative and able to adapt to new priorities, programs and responsibilities.

School of Nursing

Hilda B. Roberts
Nursing Advisor and Associate Professor

Washington State University has 452 students enrolled in one of the most unique nursing programs in the nation. The intercollegiate nursing program was organized in 1969 by WSU. The program includes WSU, Whitworth College, Fortwright College, and Eastern Washington State College.

The program enables the participating schools to cut costs and maintain communication with their students. Students take freshman and sophomore courses at a participating school of their choice. Upperdivision courses are then taken at the Intercollegiate Center for Nursing Education in Spokane, entitling the student to a Baccalaureate Nursing degree.

The program, four years in planning, involves more than 50 hospitals and health agencies and has quickly received national accreditation. WSU has graduated 236 students from the center with 176 students currently enrolled at Spokane.

College of Pharmacy

Dr. Allen I. White
Dean, College of Pharmacy

More seminars and conferences with fewer labs are stressing a more personal outlook to patients for future pharmacists.

The main goals of the College of Pharmacy are educating the pharmacist to be an expert on drugs and for him to become more involved with the patient. Today's pharmacist must know how to supply, utilize, monitor and consult information in the best interest of the patient.

Programs are designed for the new involved role of the pharmacist in today's society. Two federal projects, centered in Spokane, emphasize basic training and the study of adverse drug reactions.

Students also participate in resident clerkships and increased working time is spent in hospitals.

College of Sciences and Arts

Dr. B. A. Nugent
Dean, College of Arts

Dr. Mary E. Shutler
Anthropology

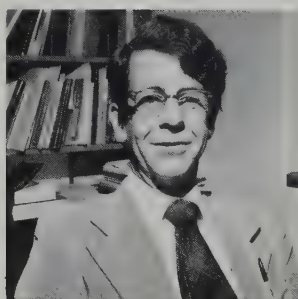

With about 60 percent of WSU students having contact with the College of Sciences and Arts at one time or another, the college is constantly reevaluating and updating their general university requirement classes.

The sociology department, one of 20 degree areas offered, is ranked as number one in the nation in graduate student publications. A new department program in alcohol counseling copes with alcoholism treatment.

Other new additions to the college include an anthropology museum, art exhibits and a Law Injustice Center. A research project now taking place is a national survey of historical sites involving the faculty of the geology department.

Graduate School

C. J. Nyman
Dean, Graduate School

The development of various grants and programs amounted to almost $12 million this year as the Graduate School continues to expand. The Graduate School is responsible for different research projects, such as the Environmental Research Center, headed by the various departments.

About 2000 graduate students are involved in various fellowships, assistantships, scholarships and assistant teaching positions. A "B" average for the last half of a student's undergraduate work is required for entrance in the Graduate School.

Primary functions of the Graduate School are administration of all graduate programs within the university, administration of research centers and the promotion of additional and improved opportunities for academic research and activities.

The small student-faculty ratio aids in these functions by assuring close relations in teaching and research.

Acacia

Acacia was founded by the Masons in the fall of 1924. The house is distinctive because of the use of a single Greek word as a name.

Activities include sponsoring a foster child, pledge dances, a spring formal and cruise, firesides and community Christmas caroling.

Alpha Gamma Rho

The Sigma chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho strives to make better men, and through them broader and better agriculture. Scholarship is highly promoted among the 48 members of the fraternity. Alpha Gamma Rho was founded here on Dec. 13, 1920.

Their activities included a spring Barn Dance Week with a barbeque, dance and visits from alumni, a Founder's Day and a Pink Rose Formal. Their little sister program, Rho-Mate, has 20 women participating from dorms and sororities.

Among their alumni are Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz and the late Joe Knott, Director Emeritus, Institute of Agricultural Sciences and the Agricultural Extension Service at WSU. The J.C. Knott Dairy Center, dairy research and teaching facility, was dedicated to Knott in 1961 at WSU.

Alpha Kappa Lambda

A ghost resides in the fraternity house of Alpha Kappa Lambda. "George of Alpha Kappa Lambda" has been blamed for the mysterious occurrences around the house.

In 1970 George is said to have started a fire in the house. No one except for three members watching TV were in the house. The fire was caused by a candle which had never been lighted and no one was in the room at the time. George watches over the house when no one is there.

George's fraternity, the only fraternity founded on the west coast, has 44 members. The name of the house is Alethia Kai Logos which means "The Truth and the Word."

Located next door to their house is Alpha Kappa Ghetto, where the upper classmen live. The fraternity purchased the extra house for possible expansion.

The house also has a small cannon built by one of the house members in 1970 and is used at football games and pep rallies.

Among activities are annual pledge and member dances in the fall, a raft trip, serenades and a softball tournament for the sororities with an all-campus dance afterwards in the spring. Their little sister program is three years old and has 25 women in it.

Alpha Tau Omega

Established on campus in 1911 near where Ferry Hall used to be, Alpha Tau Omega can boast of such alumni as George Gannon and Keith Jackson of ABC sports.

The 55 men in ATO are among the most active on campus. The house sponsors the Dance Marathon for the Epilepsy Foundation and the National Association of Retarded Children. Each year they raise almost $10,000. The house also has a different social service project each month. This year they have cleaned churches and visited rest homes among their projects.

Also active in campus activities, ATO won first place in homecoming participation and first place in intramural football.

Beta Theta Pi

Five men in room 303 of the "late" Ferry Hall on Jan. 17, 1912 formed the Lantuama Club. They moved to 801 Linden and petitioned for a Greek letter local and became Gamma Delta. The group then moved to 704 Linden and became affiliated with Beta Theta Pi on June 17, 1920.

The 54 members of Beta Theta Pi combine to form a cohesive unit of fraternal spirit. Service activities for the fraternity include participating in the annual Heart Fund Drive and, in the past, working at the recycling center.

Social events include an annual Daffodil Dance at Priest Lake in Idaho in the spring, pajama and pledge dances and an annual fraternal 50's dinner for chapter alumni who have been with the fraternity for 50 years.

Delta Sigma Phi

The "Delta Sigs" of WSU are actively involved in campus events as well as house functions and traditions. The fraternity celebrated its 25th anniversary during homecoming this year and also earned second place in the turkey trot.

Social events for Delta Sigma Phi consisted of three annual dances, a sorority snatch, an alumni softball game and pig roast, a Founders' Day dinner and a senior hay ride.

Delta Tau Delta

The WSU chapter of Delta Tau Delta was founded in 1956 and has since become involved in various activities. Members are involved in Homecoming, Cougar Crew, jazz ensemble and marching band.

Delta Tau Delta is the former record holder for the longest keg roll from Pullman to Olympia as part of an ecology drive sponsored by Olympia Brewery. The house also participated in the funding drive for Martin Stadium and is at present involved in the fund raising drive for the American Heart Association, Multiple Sclerosis and Muscular Dystrophy.

Socially, an annual formal and the Sally Sunshine contests are the big events of the year. Delta Tau Delta won first place in the Homecoming pyramid-building contest and first place for the Dad's Weekend sign contest.

Delta Upsilon

As one of the largest WSU fraternities with 69 members, Delta Upsilon is active in intramural sports. The "DU's" placed first among WSU fraternities in total intramural points in football this year. The fraternity also finished second place in Homecoming this year and won the mixed division at Songfest with the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

Delta Upsilon was originally founded in 1834 at Williams College in Massachusetts. The WSU chapter was established on March 4, 1933, as an "anti-secret" fraternity.

Noted alumni include ex-Cougar Randall Johnson, creator of the WSU emblem, and from other chapters, writer Kurt Vonnegut, Jr. and John Davidson, actor and singer.

Farmhouse

In 1905 at the University of Missouri in Columbia seven men formed Farmhouse Club. The purpose of this club was to promote mutual interest in agriculture by living together in companionship. Despite being approached by several Greek letter organizations, the group maintained the identification of a club.

Over the years changing concepts and attitudes of the members in Farmhouse and the University of Missouri brought about the development and recognition of the group as a professional fraternity while retaining their non-Greek name. Farmhouse now includes members with diversified backgrounds and majors. Locally, the WSU chapter was founded in 1955.

The WSU chapter annually participates in the Lewiston Boys' Club Haunted House. Among their many other activities are an annual Sorority House Mother's Kidnapping. House mothers are kidnapped and then the sororities must raise a ransom to get their house mothers back. All funds go to a charity.

Other activities include serenades, a Roaring Twenties Dance, Christmas Pledge Dance, a Barn Dance and a Farmer's Daughter contest. Farmhouse placed first in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Basketball Marathon for muscular dystrophy and the Annual Battle of the Aggies Basketball Tournament.

Kappa Sigma

The Gamma Mu chapter of Kappa Sigma, the oldest fraternity on the WSU campus, was founded on March 6, 1909. The present Kappa Sigma house was built in 1969 and has an 85-man capacity. Fifty-five members now reside at the house.

Kappa Sigma held their second annual "Spring Nationals" bike race to benefit a chosen organization, and an annual formal this spring.

Their little sister program, "Stardusters," was formed in 1973 and has 20 girls participating in it.

Among prominent Kappa Sigma alumni are Edward R. Murrow, journalist-commentator; actor Robert Redford; singer-actor Bing Crosby; and astronaut Edgar D. Mitchell.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Lambda Chi Alpha was presented with the Grand High Alpha Award this year. This award is presented to the top five Lambda Chi Alpha chapters in the nation and is based on continued success over a three year period.

Founded in 1913 by the Tolo Club, Lambda Chi Alpha was installed in April 7, 1914, at WSU.

Consideration for possible members involves a semester of associate membership, meeting the house grade point average and completion of initiation activities.

Their numerous activities include a Crescent Girl contest, a Watermelon Bust, a firemen's ball, a spring formal and a little sister program.

Phi Delta Theta

Residing in the newest house on campus, Phi Delta Theta's house is only six years old. The chapter has been at WSU since 1918 and at present has 68 members.

Phi Delta Theta Turtle race has become a campus favorite among activities. Each female living group has a turtle which is entered in the race, the fastest turtle being the winner. Other activities include a Skip and Go Naked Pajama Dance and sponsoring youngsters to attend Camp Easter Seal each summer in Idaho.

Phi Gamma Delta

The men of Phi Gamma Delta, more commonly called Fijis, are a very unique group of men.

One of the things that makes the Fijis unique is their secrecy policy, for they are the only fraternity with a strict policy which covers everything which occurs within the house.

Fijis have been on this campus for nearly 26 years. They were founded in their first house on Oak St. and have since moved to their present location on Opal St.

One of the programs that the Fijis have started this year was their big sister program. This is a first for the Fijis and has proved to be very worthwhile for all.

Being one of the smaller houses on campus the Fijis believe that their size is one of the factors which makes their house a home rather than a place to live.

Phi Kappa Tau

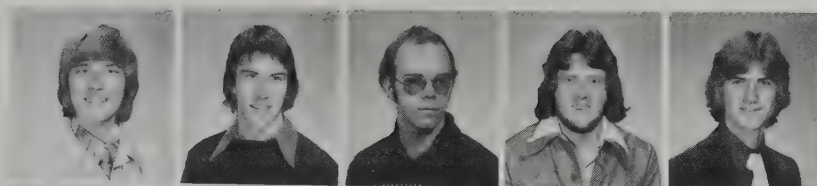

Phi Kappa Tau was founded in 1924 at WSU under the name of Omega Phi. The fraternity was accepted as a chapter of Phi Kappa Tau in 1927.

Their yearly activities include fall and spring boxer bashes, a Rose formal, various holiday parties, a pledge class goodwill project and a spring cruise on Lake Coeur D' Alene in Idaho.

Membership qualifications involve obtaining a 2.3 grade point average and serving one semester as a pledge. The house members then vote on final membership.

Phi Sigma Kappa

This year the Chi Deuteron chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa celebrated its 50th year of existence on the WSU campus in March. Attendance included national officers and alumni from every decade since the house was founded and three charter members from the class of 1927.

The local chapter was formerly known as Beta Chi Alpha which became affiliated with Phi Sigma Kappa in 1926 due to the appealing cardinal principles of brotherhood, scholarship and character.

Activities for the 53-member house include supporting charities, a spring cruise and formal.

Actor Don Knotts; singer-comedian Tom Smothers; and actor Martin Milner are some of the well-known alumni of Phi Sigma Kappa.

Their little sister program has 24 women participating in it.

Pi Kappa Alpha

This year the men of Pi Kappa Alpha were active in working with underprivileged children. They are also active in several campus and community projects.

They strive for a balance of scholastic, social and athletic endeavors.

Among their social functions the men of Pi Kappa Alpha hold their annual Dream Girl contest. The winner is announced at their formal dinner-dance at Coeur D' Alene. They also hold a Christmas fireside and a dance called the "Rabbit Habit."

Sigma Chi

Sigma Chi, the second largest fraternity nationwide, finished in second place in intramural football at WSU. The previous year the fraternity participants were in first place.

Among their other activities, the men of Sigma Chi hold an annual contest to name the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" who is crowned at their Sweetheart Ball.

Every spring Sigma Chi, Phi Delta Theta and Beta Theta Pi hold a triad and dance. The nation-wide fraternity's service project is the Wallace Village for Children.

Sigma Chi was founded nationally on June 28, 1855 at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio and chartered at WSU as the Beta Upsilon chapter on Nov. 14, 1919. Among Sigma Chi alumni are Senator Mike McCormick and Ernest O. Holland, for whom Holland Library is named.

Pledges must complete one semester of pledgeship and achieve a grade point average of at least 2.0 to become members. A final pledge test must be passed before going through initiation.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Tau Kappa Epsilon, established at WSU in 1927, is a member of the largest number of active chapters of any college fraternity, 314 at last count. Their present house was built in 1938 and features a swimming pool, the only one on Greek Row.

Activities for the TKE house are many with the highlight being their Water Follies involving contests of diving, breath holding, keg riding, pool chug relays and innertube pyramid building.

The TKEs are also involved in the March of Dimes Walkathon, intramurals and this year they won third place in the chariot race during Homecoming.

Theta Chi

Installed as a house in 1924, Theta Chi moved into their present house in 1929. Their house is one of the oldest houses on campus.

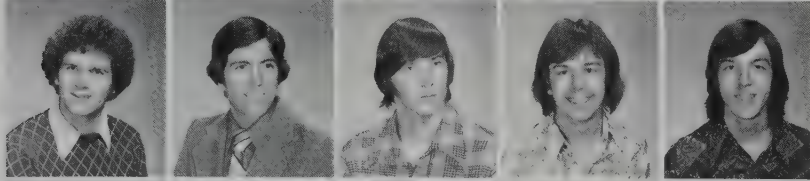

The social life for the 56 members of Theta Chi is an active one consisting of exchanges, pledge dances, a spring cruise and a formal dance. Activities that the house is involved in include the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Basketball Marathon and the March of Dimes fund drive.

A note of interest from the Theta Chi house is the late alumnus, Glen "Turk" Edwards, All-American and Hall of Fame football player. A memorial for Edwards was held at the homecoming game this year.

Theta Chi has an unusual mascot known as Ox after the Greek letters of the fraternity. She is a registered St. Bernard and is a familiar sight to all the postmen of Pullman.

The Alpha Delta chapter of Phi Kappa Theta (formerly the Chi Nu Chi chapter of Phi Kappa) was founded on April 29, 1959.

Each year Phi Kappa Theta participates in all intramural sports and hosts guest speakers from various interesting groups. Raft trips, fall, winter and spring campouts, a pledge dance, a spring formal and giving the underprivileged children of Pullman a Christmas party with Santa Claus rounded out their social life.

The Phi Kappa Theta chapter has a capacity of 32 men. This number serves to their advantage since every man has the opportunity to know every other man as a true brother.

Theta Xi with a membership of 13 men had the highest grade point of all WSU living groups for the fall of 1975. The fraternity was formerly a national organization for engineering students, but have since changed to include men with a variety of academic interests.

"Theta Zuu" was established on April 8-10, 1921 at WSU. During World War I their house was used as an army barracks.

Activities included intramural sports in basketball, volleyball, softball, bowling and football and a little sister program.

Alpha Chi Omega

The 82 members of Alpha Chi Omega had a memorable year in 1976 as they won the Spring Songfest and the Watermelon Bust.

The 60-year-old chapter was also active with pledge dances, cruises, house retreats and a special Christmas party given by the seniors for the rest of the house. The house was active this year in selling Easter Lilies for the March of Dimes.

Alpha Delta Pi

This year Alpha Delta Pi, the first secret society formed for women, celebrated its 125th anniversary. The WSU chapter has been on campus for 64 of those 125 years. Alpha Delta Pi is the second sorority founded at WSU.

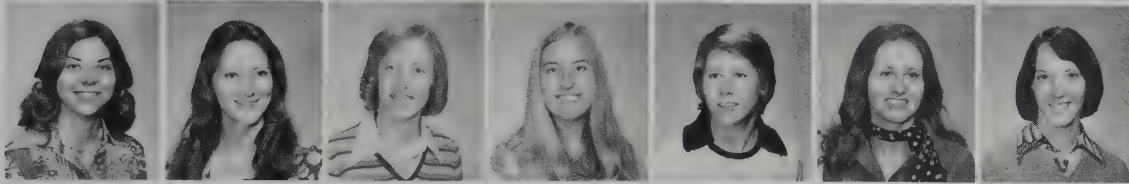

The house members are involved in intramural sports, the Alpha Kappa Lambda Softball tournament, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Olympics and the Lambda Chi Alpha Watermelon Bust.

Service functions of the house include sponsoring a child through Children, Inc., participating in the Heart Fund Drive and a teeter-totter-athon for muscular dystrophy.

Alpha Omicron Pi

The Alpha Gamma chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi was founded at WSU in May 1932. The house temporarily closed during the depression.

Alpha Omicron Pi emphasizes scholarship, service to others and a feeling of closeness toward each other. Members are involved in many activities both on and off campus. Their philanthropy project is arthritis and they also sponsor a girl in Lakeland Village.

Kappa Alpha Theta

HOT STUFF
THIS WEEK!
K.A.T

Kappa Alpha Theta, the first Greek letter sorority for women, was founded in 1870. The Alpha Sigma chapter at WSU was established in 1913.

The "Thetas" are involved in many service projects such as participating in cancer drives and with the Antonian School for the retarded. Members are also active with the Sigma Alpha Epsilon basketball marathon, the Alpha Tau Omega dance marathon and the Kappa Sigma bike marathon.

Kappa Alpha Theta alumni from other chapters include actresses Ann Margaret and Marlo Thomas.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

With emphasis in scholarship and sisterhood, the Gamma Eta chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma is a growing organization. The "Kappas" were founded nationally in 1870 in Illinois. The WSU chapter was established in 1920.

Many members are involved in campus and social activities such as the Spurs Song Fest and Fish Fans. During Homecoming, the sorority won first place in the chariot races. Members also participate in various little sister programs and queen contests.

Philanthropic activities include taking part in the Alpha Tau Omega "Dance to Give 'Em a Chance", the American Cancer Society Drive and Sigma Alpha Epsilon's basketball marathon for muscular dystrophy.

Pi Beta Phi

Pi Beta Phi among their many activities participate annually in the local cancer drive and have a spring cruise on Lake Coeur D' Alene in Idaho.

Among their social activities the women of Pi Beta Phi have an annual Thanksgiving dinner with the "Betas," a Christmas fireside and pledge dance and an annual Kappa-Theta-Pi Phi Triad Dance.

The chapter at WSU began on Oct. 3, 1908, and nationally in 1867.

Qualifications for membership include fulfilling mental, social, scholastic and university requirements. Members must successfully complete the pledge exam and other pledge duties and then be unanimously approved by the chapter to join.

Famous alumni of Pi Beta Phi are actresses Doris Day and Loretta Young; country-western comedienne Minnie Pearl and former first lady Mary Margaret Truman.

Sigma Kappa

With 47 members in the house, the "Snakie K's" are involved in homecoming with the Kappa Sigma fraternity, Mother's Weekend, a pledge dance and a formal and last year celebrated the national centennial. The WSU chapter was chartered in 1922.

Sigma Kappa is active in the Maine Seacoast Mission and a Greek Form School in addition to their many social functions.

Jane Radkey, WSC Beauty Queen, 1942

Margaret Kelly,
Harvest Ball Queen
c., 1941

Gail Heriza, Homecoming Queen, 1960

Hey Beautiful! Yes, that's one reason a girl is chosen as royalty, but the main reason is that she has a certain appeal that makes people want to honor her. Royalty has always played a part in WSU's social life. Ever since the first Harvest Ball Queen — and further along down the line — Little Sisters, Sweethearts, Duchesses, and Sally Sunshines, girls have been crowned with the titles they openly competed for or secretly hoped for; titles that gave most girls their one and only chance to be royal.

Not that they weren't royal before winning the title "Queen," but being chosen royalty is a way of confirming that everyone else thinks so, too.

So here's honor, here's glory... here's to poise, personality, and popularity.

Voter turnout in 1960 was 76.7% of the eligible student body. By 1965 turnout had dropped to below 50% and has continued to drop to this year's low of 20%. The low turnout, for the second consecutive year, posed the problem of seating the president, vice-president and at-large senators on the University Senate which requires a 30% turnout.

This failing support may come from the realization that student government is becoming less effective. The Board of Regents and the administrators dominate in many critical areas with student government serving as a source of input to these bodies by expressing student views. But the power for change is not in their hands.

The frustration of much work and few results was felt by this year's ASWSU president Linda Carlisle. While finding little difficulty in working with administrators, she found there were many areas where opinions differed. The Board of Regents, Carlisle feels, are not responsible to students. They are not in touch with the university and must view issues with second hand information.

Issues that faced ASWSU this year included the funding of gay awareness, which was approved, the freshman live-in rule, which was retained and the possibility of a tuition increase and the possible funding of WashPIRG, which was disapproved.

To be a member of Alpha Tau Alpha one must have agricultural education as a major and a 2.5 grade point average.

Spurs

Spurs was founded in 1922 at Montana State College.

The purpose of Spurs is to serve the university and the community; to support the activities in which the student body and the university participate; and to foster among all students a spirit of loyalty and helpfulness. Spurs is a very fitting name; S for sacrifice, P for patriotism, U for understanding, R for responsibility and S for service. The Spurs' motto is: "At Your Service."

Qualifications for membership are interest in and participation in college activities, dependability, personal integrity, service to others, and a 3.0 minimum grade point average.

Spurs sponsor the fall and spring blood drive, Songfest on Moms Weekend and are ushers at football games and concerts.

Phi Kappa Phi was the first honor society to give recognition to superior scholarship in all fields of study and to take into membership the highest ranking students from every branch of learning. Founded in 1897 at the University of Maine, the society now has 140 chapters, with a total membership of more than 240,000. Throughout the universities of the United States and one in the Phillipines, each year 18,000 new members are added.

The Greek letters stand for the society's motto, PHILOSOPHIA KRATEITO PHOTON, which freely translated is, "Let the love of learning rule mankind." This wording, expressing a goal rather than a "fait accompli," has been officially accepted by the Society.

Fall Evergreen

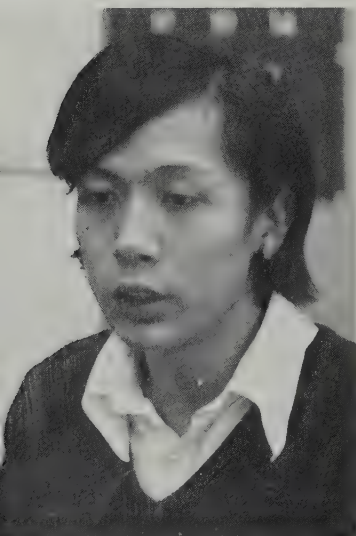

The Daily Evergreen went through many changes during fall semester. There were internal pressures from the beginning. The staff which came to work on the first of September had little or no experience on the Evergreen and some of the issues produced showed this. We tried to do the best job we could with the resources we had and, little by little, mistake by painful mistake, the staff improved.

The most vocal critics were obviously the readers, who pressed for better coverage of their favorite areas and more features. Opinions varied on how much and what should be covered. Some believed that certain areas should be covered more than others, such as minorities rather than some ASWSU-sponsored organization. Others believed that some subjects shouldn't be covered at all, such as the ASWSU funding of Gay Awareness, while still others believed that we were being too thorough, such as certain athletic department personnel.

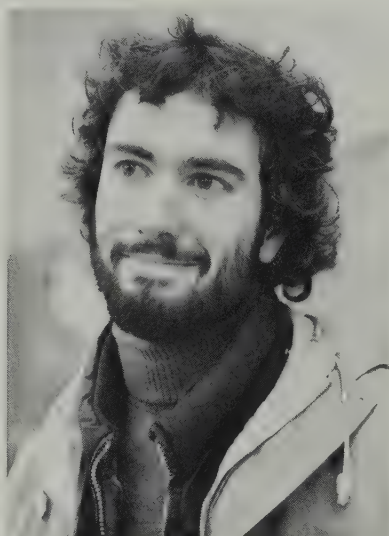

By the end of the semester, the staff was producing some above average work and the Fall Evergreen reflected this improvement.

Spring Evergreen

Managing Editor Jeri Betz gave up baking, her favorite pastime and indulged instead in wishful thinking, collecting weekend recipes spewed out by the AP wire machine. Paul Nickell, one time Model Kid of the Daily Evergreen, revealed his true character as the grumbling and growling news editor, baring his teeth at every mention of deadline. Copy Editor Kris McRae vowed to revive the English language and, after a semester's reading and editing copy, requested revival for herself at Student Health.

If the staff lacked experience, it made up for it all by being the most diligent group of DE reporters in recent years. There was Larry Ganders, who called up the legislature to talk about the state's problems until the lawmakers finally quit trying to solve them. Bob Sheffels boosted enrollment in Math 609 by enrolling in all 12 sections at the same time so he could learn to decipher the university's budget. Karen Torpey, who covered the student government, was billed by the university for wear and tear off the top of concrete walkways in the general area of the CUB.

Meanwhile, the editor labored the whole semester to get this passage written for the CHINOOK.

Emphasizing an attitude that seemed to prevail throughout the station, KUGR began the year with new management, a new format and a new slogan: "Experience It."

With the installation of a stereo broadcast board shortly before the year began, the advertising salesman had a new selling point to approach clients. The results were a record-setting figure for ad revenue and increased listenership.

The musical format departed from the traditional "Top 40" sound to more diverse programming incorporating jazz, blues, classical and all types of rock. Perry Sobolik's Sunday jazz program and Chris Ackerman's bi-weekly "Album Preview" were examples of the efforts KUGR made to reach more listeners.

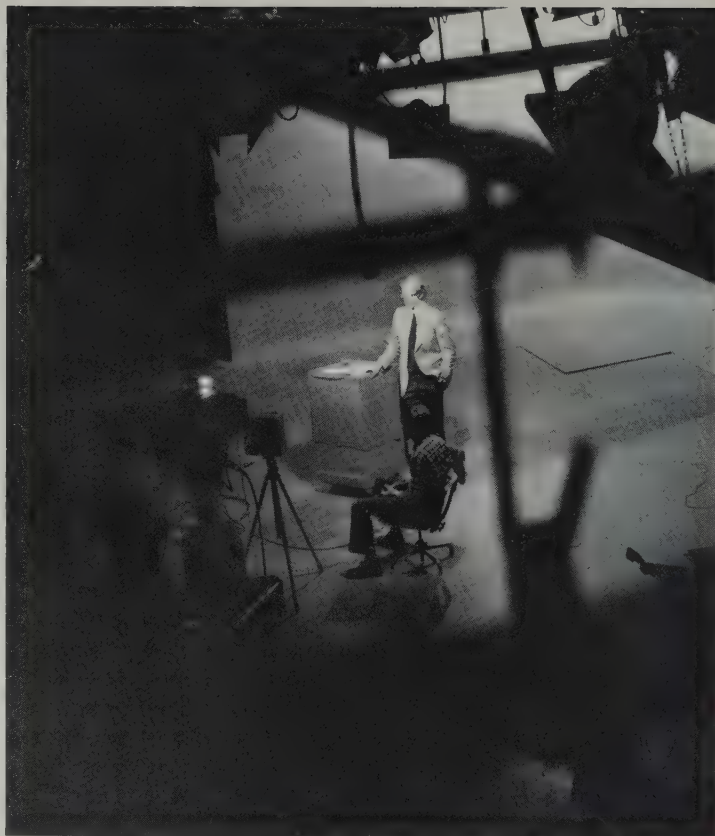

Station Manager Tony Miner summed up the year by saying, "We've initiated some new ideas and practices this year in an attempt to create a more total learning and sharing atmosphere."

KWSU TV

Channel 10

This past year has seen many local productions by KWSU-TV's creative forces, from a week-long look at the city, "Produced in Pullman," to a full-fledged Hollywood-type production, "South by Northwest." The latter five-part series was videotaped on locations in the Northwest using motion picture film techniques.

WSU students form the basis of local production crews in addition to providing creative input in film, graphics, writing and other aspects of station operation. "Perspectives," a weekly public affairs series, is being produced entirely by students. Pictured on this page are several of those students who have been involved with KWSU-TV this past year.

KWSU AM 1250

Jill Dwelley, News Staff.

KWSU RADIO celebrated its 53rd birthday on December 10, 1975. The 5000 watt AM station began broadcasting in 1922 and is one of the oldest educational radio stations in the country.

Broadcast communications students have always played an important role in the operation of the station. This past year students were employed as announcers and board operators, members of the news and sports staffs, and as continuity and production assistants. KWSU RADIO is a charter member of the National Public Radio network.

The Residence Hall Association is the Central Government of the residence hall system at WSU. Each of the 21 halls pays membership and is directly represented in RHA by their president and an elected representative. These council members meet regularly to discuss and take action on issues pertinent to the residence halls.

RHA has been active in recommending policies concerning visitation, co-ed living, parking, and dorm improvements. In addition, RHA offers programs throughout the year.

The Steptoe Studs Sports Club was founded when 21 of the studliest and most athletic men on campus got together and formed a fantastic All-American intramural squad. The purpose of this club is to participate in all intramural activities, and to win. Three factors are required for membership: 1) To be absolutely cool, 2) to be a resident of Steptoe Village Apartments, 3) and to be male. Activities consist of participation in all intramural sports, the Studs Keggar, and keeping all the women on the WSU campus happy . . . (by Ajay J. Mathison)

American Association of Civil Engineers

ASCE was founded in 1852 for "the advancement of the science and profession of engineering" It provides members the opportunity for exposure to the "real world" of civil engineering—through field trips, guest speakers, movies, parties, and gatherings where students and profs have a chance to "drink and talk."

To qualify for membership, one must be enrolled as an undergraduate or graduate student in Civil engineering.

Christian Science Organization

The purpose of the Christian Science Organization is to share with the university community the spiritual truths of the Christian Science as found in the Bible and in Science and Health with Key to Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. They do this through testimony meetings, Christian Science lectures, and other social activities.

Dairy Club

The main purpose of the Dairy Club is to get together and exchange ideas about dairying, of course! Any WSU student who shows an interest in the club may join and participate in the activities.

Dairy Club helps with the Mom's Weekend Cheese Sale, takes a field trip once a year to tour farms, and holds weekly meetings.

Panhellenic

Panhellenic governs and coordinates the 14 sororities on campus. Each sorority chapter is represented by an elected delegate, who with the six officers plan Rush, leadership training seminars, and involve themselves in altruistic projects such as aiding physically disabled students.

Junior Panhellenic

Junior Panhellenic is made up of one representative from each sorority Pledge Class on campus. Their job is to organize and coordinate the Pledge Classes and to help Senior Panhellenic.

Junior Panhellenic involves itself with working on the freshman project, civil services, and a meeting every other week.

WSU Women's Bowling

The WSU Women's Bowling Team likes to bowl—and win—and have a good time doing both. Tryouts are held at the beginning of each school year where the girls are chosen on the basis of their bowling scores, attitude, and knowledge of the game.

The team bowls in several tournaments throughout the year against Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington, and Utah schools. Their mascot is "Waddles."

Women's Bowling. Row One: Reggie Frederick, Nancy Taft, Becky Shaw, Sally Daiger. Row Two: Laurie Jessiman, Debbie Lovely, Connie Riha, Barb Kee, Sue Wiley.

WSU Men's Bowling

The WSU men's Bowling Team competes on the collegiate level in various tournaments through the year. All members must have a 2.0 GPA or better and carry a minimum of 12 credit hours. Tryouts take place at the beginning of each school year.

The team participates in tournaments in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana, their goal being the regional and national tournaments.

Society of Professional Journalists

The WSU chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists (SPJ), Sigma Delta Chi, exists to bring journalism majors together and expose them to practical issues of the press through speakers, seminars and related programs.

First semester activities included sponsoring a Police-Press Relations seminar with local police representatives and naming Sol Lewis, late publisher of the "Lynden Tribune", to the chapter's WSU State Hall of Journalism Achievement.

Sigma Delta Chi also sent delegates to the SPJ National Convention in Philadelphia, Penn. and members visited the Palouse Press Museum. Spring attendance to the regional convention at Hood Canal was also on the agenda.

Members of the Student American Pharmaceutical Association (SAPHA) promote involvement in the pharmacy profession through leadership, active participation at the local, state, regional, and national levels, and fellowship with pharmacy practitioners and students.

Any dues-paying student enrolled in pre-pharmacy or pharmacy qualifies for membership. SAPHA's activities include a monthly meeting, providing a public information panel for anyone interested, sponsoring the College of Pharmacy's annual awards and scholarship banquet, holding a hypertension screening clinic, and participation in regional and national SAPHA meetings.

Twenty students, for the first time, were able to take their entire first year of medical school in the Palouse Empire. They were enrolled in the Washington, Alaska, Montana and Idaho (WAMI) Program in Basic Medical Sciences.

The medical program began in 1972 at WSU as an experiment in extending medical education from the University of Washington's School of Medicine in Seattle.

Participants in the program work through, and are first accepted, into the UW School of Medicine. The students are then assigned to either WSU, Montana State University, the University of Idaho or the University of Alaska by the UW.

Agronomy Club

Crop Judging Team

Undergraduates in the College of Agriculture can join the Agronomy Club at WSU. The club's activities include hosting student-faculty events, supplying a crop judging team and holding monthly meetings with guest speakers.

The Agronomy Club at WSU was founded as a result of action by the American Society of Agronomy in 1932 to establish an affiliated national student organization. The club strives for "participation in educational activities and attaining greater professional awareness and experience."

Crops Judging Team: Dean Brown, Sandra Morgan, Jim Kropf, Dwane Miller, Advisor.

Associated Women Students

AWS Senate. Jim Bauermeister, Kathy Ormiston, Mike Bolander, Mary Austenson, Jayne Harmon, Linda Smith, David Bauermeister, Toni Destefano, Wendy Hein.

AWS Executive Board

Two new committees, Bicentennial and Career Consciousness were formed this year by the Association for Women Students. The Bicentennial Committee looked into women's roles in United States history. The Career Consciousness Committee held monthly panels on non-traditional careers for women visiting various living groups.

The association also sponsored the Sex Information Center, Mothers' Weekend, Co-sponsored the Committee for Women's Liberation and brought various noted women speakers to WSU.

All regularly enrolled students at WSU can become members of AWS.

American Society of Interior Design

The present American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) began Jan. 1, 1975 with the consolidation of the American Institute of Interior Designers and the National Society of Interior Designers. Through the professional and student chapters, ASID is working to keep all members informed as to what is happening in the interior design field. The club provides exposure to evolving design concepts and new directions.

Club activities include the regional conference in San Francisco in the spring, guest designers from Los Angeles and money making activities.

American Marketing Association

A group of marketing students founded the WSU chapter of the American Marketing Association in November 1975. During its first full semester of operation in the spring of 1976, the association had over 50 members, who amounted to 50 percent of all the marketing majors at WSU.

The association hopes to promote and learn more about marketing from other members and out-of-class interactions and to prepare early for a professional career.

Every two weeks the group hosts a guest speaker at their meetings. They also hold several "purely social" functions.

Interfraternity Council

Interfraternity Council serves to strengthen the fraternity system as a whole. This governmental body of 25 members organizes the activities of the WSU fraternities. The council also provides a form of communication among the houses, and between the houses and the university.

Each fraternity has one voting delegate, although any fraternity member can attend meetings.

The council plans and supervises rush, sponsors leadership conferences and helps promote other campus activities such as the "Dance to Give Them a Chance Marathon" for the epilepsy foundation and retarded citizens.

Interfraternity Council. Lotzgesell, Sluggo, John Bates, Jay Wardle. Row Three: Bob Hall, Neal Forde, Dean Cunningham, James Whitney, Marty Goodman, Paul Gifford, Mark Hendrickson, Jack Crowe.

Food Science Club

The Food Science Club, organization for students interested in food science and related technology, helps with the processed cheese spread and smoked chicken sales scheduled throughout the year. Other activities include an annual banquet, field trips, a spring party, guest speakers and numerous athletic contests. The Food Science Club hopes to foster a close relationship among food science students, faculty and the rest of the College of Agriculture.

Food Science Club. Row One: Jon Bafus, Ko Ju-min, Lynne Robison, Wayne Steffen, Russ Salvadalena, Pat Lathrop, Barry Swanson, John Spencer. Row Two: Paul S. Forestry Club

One of the WSU Forestry Club's objectives is to advance the science, technology, education and practice of professional forestry in America and the Pullman area. Another is to promote friendship among members and potential members. Activities include the Loggers Jamboree, a Christmas Party, and the annual Forestry and Range Banquet and wood sales.

Peas that Please

Peas that Please are dedicated to the purpose of bringing pleasure and fulfillment to the members. Qualifications for memberships are: charm, wit, intelligence, physical excellence, and the ability to overcome any obstacles that may stand in the path to eternal Nirvana.

Peas That Please: Mike Gillum, Chris Kruize, Brian "Ice" Eisleben, Kelly "Laguna" Akins, George Howard Allen.

One Thursday a band of hearty men from Gannon-Goldsworthy set out to celebrate the 22nd birthday of a comrade, and when they returned from celebrating they proceeded to serenade a young lady's window (which happened to be room number 201). From that night on, the Thursday Night 201 Social Club has met for some form of activity with the purpose of bringing cheer into the hearts of young ladies. To qualify for membership one must be a resident assistant of Gannon-Goldsworthy with the exception of a few token members. Some of the activities include the portrayal of Monty Python's "Spam" in the Rotunda, along with the "Lumber Jack Song."

Block and Bridle Club

Public Relations Student Society

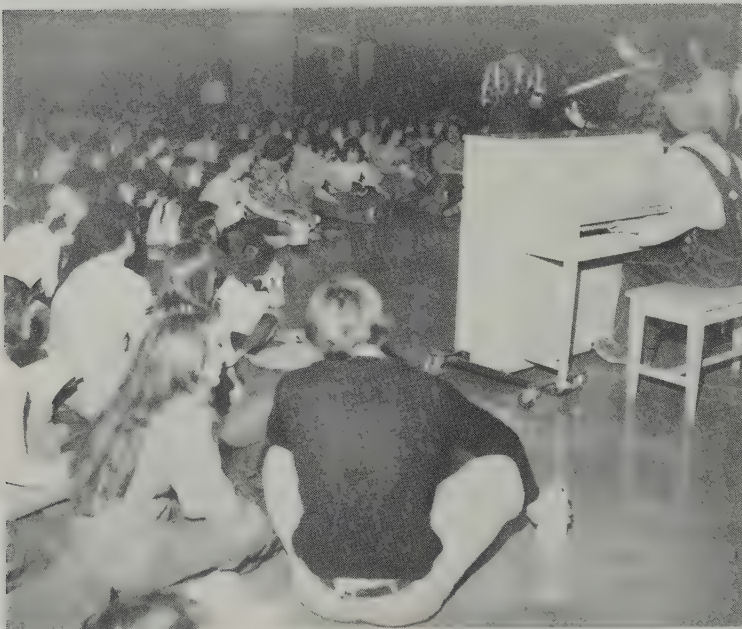

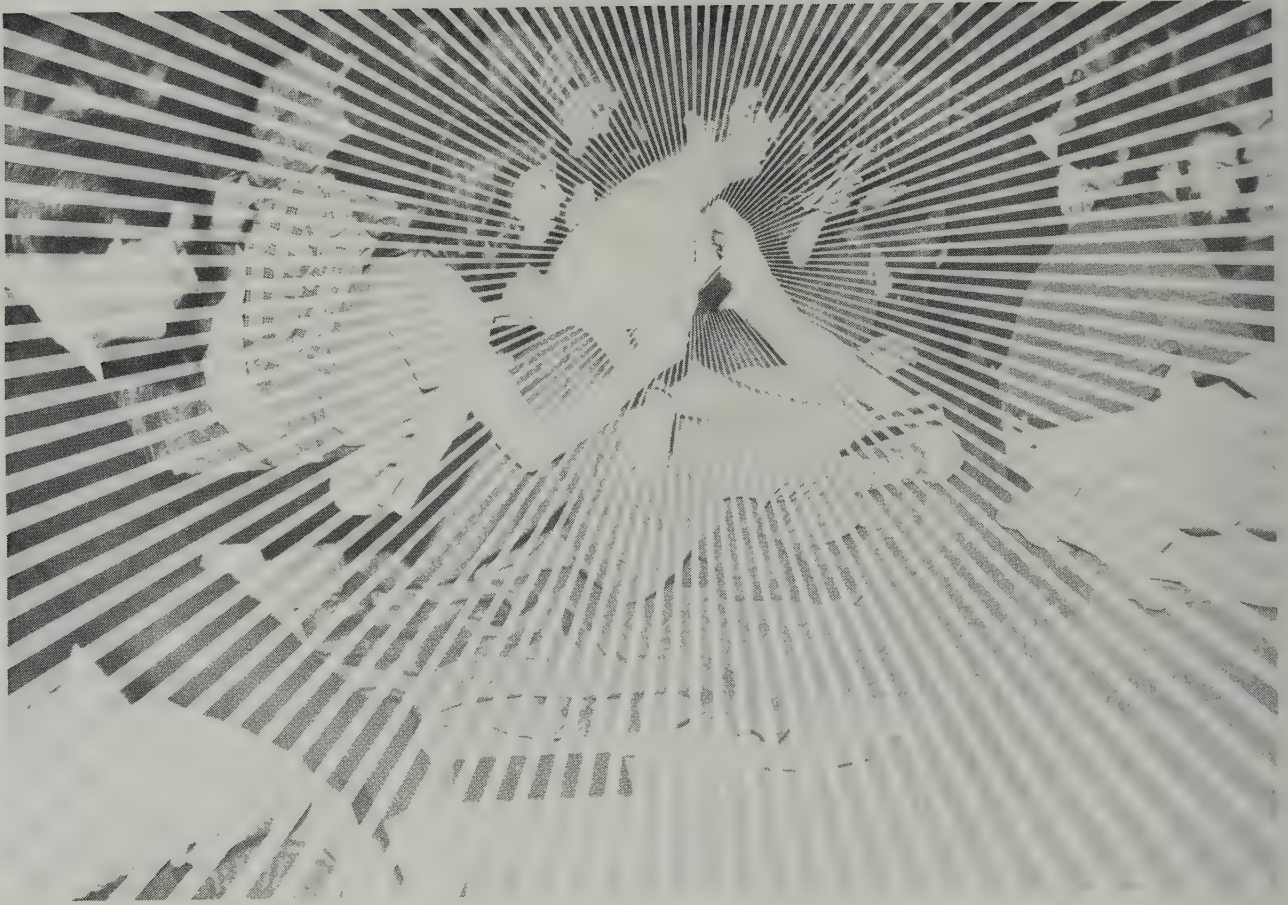

The WSU chapter of Public Relations Student Society of America is the only organization of its kind in Washington. Students planning to major or who have an interest in public relations may join.

The group's goal is cultivating "a favorable and mutually advantageous relationship" between students and public relations practitioners. Members are helped in preparing a career in their field.

Activities of the organization include community service projects, field trips and arranging for guest speakers to attend club meetings.

Young Life

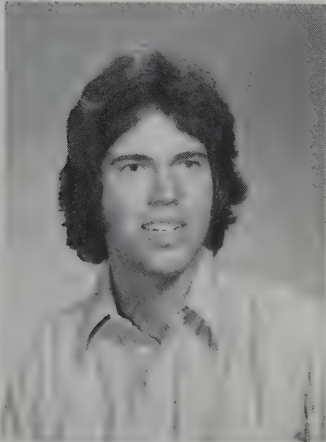

Young Life was formed at WSU four years ago by an interested group of students and adults, with the purpose of introducing Jesus Christ to people in a clear and understandable way.

This year the club has increased its activities. Young Life sponsors square dances, a '50's dance, a movies night, sports activities, and informal get-togethers.

Newman Association

The WSU Newman Association endeavors to encourage a living spiritual dimension on our campus through its programs of liturgy, study, counselling and recreation. Comprised of the Catholic students of St. Thomas More Chapel, its two facilities, the old "grey Stone" at Maiden Lane and Maple and the newly remodeled temporary Newman Center at NE 815 C street, are open to all students, faculty and staff.

The association is guided by a student executive council which has fostered a variety of programs such as morning and evening prayer groups, evening Christian fellowship gatherings, Inquiry and Holy Scripture classes and married students functions.

A full-time chaplain, faculty advisor and lay staff administer those programs which include two daily masses offered in the student visitation chapel at the Newman Center, in addition to the four Sunday masses at St. Thomas More.

Astronomy and Physics Club

The Astronomy and Physics Club consists of people interested in the subject who have come together for, mainly, social purposes.

Since the group re-formed this year they have taken one field trip and held several get togethers.

To be a member, "just show up."

Astronomy and Physics Club. Row One: Tanner Brown, David Rust, R. S. Venkatachalam, Russell Bird. Row Two: Brad Grabill, John Teberg, H. B. Parachute Club

The WSU Parachute Club has 25 to 30 regular members, and there have been approximately 100 people jumping this year.

Anyone with good health who pays a $55 fee for lessons and an additional $5 every jump afterwards may parachute and belong to the club.

MBA's — the Masters in Business Administration

The MBA (Masters of Business Administration) Association consists of everyone enrolled in the MBA program (approximately 100 persons). They sell advertising space on the desk blotters that they distribute during registration and then use the money they earn for social functions during the year.

The ideal yearbook is somewhat like a visual echo of "The School Year That Was." And it's an echo that should not fade away with time, but should remain a prized, real reminder of your year at WSU.

The trick is to have "your" apply to everyone on campus; to achieve a homogenous yearbook, one that is accepted by the entire campus community. It sure ain't easy.

Sixteen Chinook staff members and 13 photographers returned early and began on the yearbook even before September registration by attending training and planning sessions.

Each staff person is a specialist concentrating on his/her area of expertise and meeting deadlines. The staff and their volunteers went through five deadlines and saw their individual efforts unite to produce a coherent yearbook.

On the Chinook's editorial side, the first step came in planning the yearbook's content and help in coordinating the production by the division editors, while the sports editor followed Cougar tracks. After the reporting and writing were done, the copy editors "grammatized" and fit the writings and the layout editors checked and designed the 528 pages.

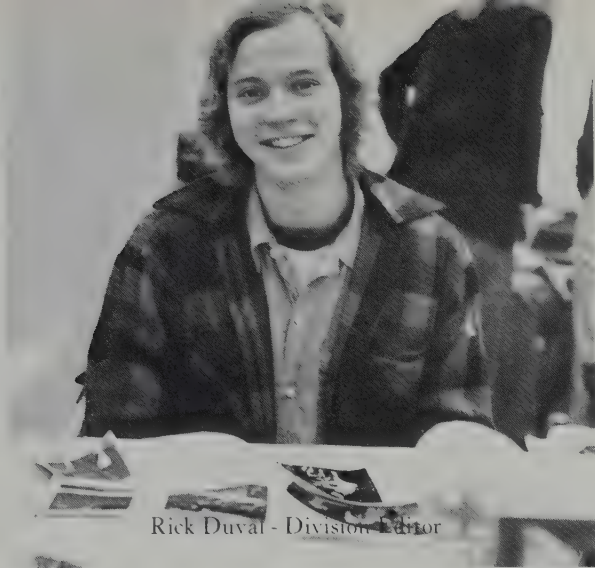

Meanwhile, photo editors made sure your mug was your mug, and got on the right page, and the art editor used his aesthetic skills to design the cover, end and division pages.

During all this, the business manager and her assistant are making sure we can pay for the book (it's self supporting); and the editor and her assistant have the easiest job of all ... they're managers, creators, custodians, psychologists and lastly, stoppers of the buck.

M's Last Words

After many hours of work, laughter, play and tears, '76 CHINOOK is in print. The staff and I hope you have enjoyed it.

This year the book is a collection of individual ideas tied together by our group goal of depicting 1975-76 as a special year, different from others. Each section represents an individual's interpretation of that goal and therefore each person deserves the credit. Please refer to the list on this page.

I had a very good staff this year, an especially creative one and to them goes my sincerest appreciation—Thank you, Staff, for making my job easy and fun... you were great!!!!

This year's volunteers helped in the actual creation of the pages as well as in the mechanics of the book. I thank them for their unselfish dedication.

I have truly enjoyed working as editor of '76 CHINOOK and have learned a great deal from it. My thanks go to the Pub Board for giving me the opportunity.

Many people contributed to the success of what we feel is one of the best CHINOOK's ever. Please take time to read over the credits and discuss the yearbook with any of those you may know.

Thanks for reading this page.

Marilyn René Pfeifer

Again, thank you staff, you made it all possible:

Marilyn Pfeifer—odds-n-ends
Carol Horan—Administration, ASWSU, Drama, CHINOOK, Military, all-around big help,
Outstanding Upperclassman on the staff
Cheryl McIntosh—the business end of the book
Nancy Johns—the rest of the business on the book
Ed Hesner—Cover design, Endsheets, History Opening, Division pages
Leah Puri—Sports
Jill Abraham—Expressions, Honoraries, Speakers
Rick Duval—Concerts, Communications, Colleges, Expressions, Most Inspirational staff member
Cindy Evans—Organizations, Royalty, Activities
Karen McCulloch—Administration, ASWSU, Drama, Colleges
Elise Blomberg—Dorms, Greeks, Off-Campus, Seniors
Peggy Ptacek—Dorms, Greeks, Off-Campus, Seniors, Outstanding Upperclassman on the staff
Kelly Akins—Final layout and picture cropping, Outstanding Underclassman on the staff
Robyn Roehm—Final layout and picture cropping
Elsie Dennis—Writing, editing, and typing of copy
Bev Lange—Typing and fitting of copy

There are several special people not on my staff who deserve mention and my personal thanks for helping me get through the year:

Wes Calvert for having all the answers;

Klaus Scherler for being the go-between, the optimist (most of the time), and the persuader.

Mike Bowhay for performing miracles in the darkroom;

Donna Cook, Dale Quincy, and Jerry Ratliff from Pischel Yearbooks for helping us with technical problems;

Lee Jones of Pischel for his helpful color and special effect advice;

Larry Aikens of Keith Cole Photography for helping us improve our individuals sections; and Jan Ahlin for his sympathetic ear and broad crying shoulder.

Many thanks go to the volunteers who helped ease the burden on the staff:

Debbie Neal	Joan Gustafson
Dayna Edwards	Mary McCoy
Nick Skillman	Rich Thompson
Steve Garl	Ken McClaire
Jenny Longstaff	Mary Kay Munn
Joan Consani	Carly Thomas
Bob Kenworthy	Jo Wirtz

Student Publications

Photographers—thanks for capturing our ideas on film:

Steve Bloom	Greg Juber
Art Bori	Paul Nebolon
Tom Chase	Gary Newell
Dean Conti	Annette Poulson
Mike Davis	Peggy Richmond
Bruce Fingarson	James Roberts
Gary Goldsberry	Margaret Rush
Jerry Haaland	Tom Steinbeck

Thanks go to WSU Photo for taking most of the group pictures:

Bob Bullis	Lyle McGlothlin
Arden Literal

A very special thanks goes to the Archives for supplying all the photos of WSU's past. We are truly grateful.

I would also like to thank Pat Caraher of the HILLTOPICS for helping us find historical information sources.

and Eternal Thanks
